

Madcap 'Uncle Earl' Nearly Unhinges de Gaulle

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle rushed through the last hectic hours of his United States visit yesterday smiling wanly at the antics of Gov. Earl K. Long.

De Gaulle and his wife Yvonne left the United States in a blaze of fireworks last night for French Guiana, bringing an end to his 18-day visit.

"Uncle Earl" spat in his ashtray at a luncheon for de Gaulle and then engaged in a brief wrestling bout with an admiral that nearly got de Gaulle shoved into a dinner plate.

Then the madcap governor, who goes out of office in two weeks, made a short speech in which he announced that "when the Great Scorer comes to write against General de Gaulle's name, he won't write whether he won or lost, but how he played the game."

Then he clapped his floppy straw hat on his head and marched out of the room.

De Gaulle, when his turn came to speak, sarcastically thanked "the honorable governor of Louisiana, who unfortunately has left us before the end of our luncheon, but I appreciate his kind words."

Long fidgeted and chain-smoked in a chair six seats from de Gaulle before the food was served. While eating, he spat unerringly into his ashtray and then, in the middle of the meal, he popped up and scurried over to de Gaulle.

He grabbed the hulking war hero by the shoulders. At the same time, U.S. Navy Admiral Arthur de la Houssaye, seated next to de Gaulle, leaped up and grabbed Long by the shoulder.

Long still had de Gaulle in his grip and in the brief struggle, the startled general nearly got pushed into his meal.

Long ended the impasse by plunging down in de la Houssaye's chair, which had been pulled out behind de Gaulle.

He and de Gaulle then chatted for a moment, de Gaulle trying to eat and talk over his shoulder.

The general appeared apprehensive and came up with a sickly smile. Long then got up and went back to his own chair.

Earlier de Gaulle had his name perpetuated in Algiers — Algiers, La., that is. At city hall Mayor Delesseps

Morrison told him that the city council had changed the name of a suburban street to General de Gaulle Drive. "In this fashion, we are making certain that the name of de Gaulle will forever be permanent in Algiers."

"Of course, this is our Algiers — the 15th ward of New Orleans."

De Gaulle did not seem particularly excited by this.

Child Bites Baby, $1,570 Award Made

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker has approved a $1,570 settlement for damages in the case to a baby who was attacked in her hospital crib by a four-year-old patient, bitten in the foot and nose, taken from the crib and dropped on the floor of Royal Columbian Hospital.

BOMBER DIVES INTO LAKE; SENIOR RCAF OFFICER LOST

Only Debris Found, Six Canadians Die

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A Coast Guard crash boat early today found a shirt, a pair of flight pants and other debris from a crippled Royal Canadian Air Force B-25 bomber which crashed in Milwaukee harbor last night, killing six men.

The debris was found inside a breakwater several miles south of the spot where the plane crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan while attempting an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field.

PRESUMED DEAD

Among the six RCAF personnel missing and presumed dead was the new vice-commander of the 30th North American Air Defence Command Region. A witness to the crash said he "heard no shouts for help."

"I'm afraid they're all dead," a Wisconsin Air National Guard official said. "The temperature of that water out there is 35 degrees and no one could survive very long."

The plane was bound for Trux Field at Madison, Wis., from Ottawa when it developed engine trouble. It missed one pass at an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field and was on its second approach when it hit the water.

LEADING FIGURE

Among those missing and presumed dead was Air Commodore John Stephenson, 47, who was flying to Madison to assume his new post.

Air Commodore Stephenson, who led the air force in 1938, was a leading figure in wartime pilot training in Canada.

On the Loose

Daughter of movie star Lana Turner, tall, willowy Cheryl Crane, 16, escaped last night with two other girls from El Retiro home for juvenile delinquent girls in California's San Fernando Valley. Minimum-security institution has a high wall but no guards, and escapes are common.

Best of Victoria's Festival of Music

Best soloists in vocal and piano classes in Victoria's Music Festival were named last night from this group. Winner of B.C. Electric Rose Bowl was contralto Eleanor Duff, second from right; City of Victoria Medallion for pianists was awarded Sydney Bulman.

Tanks Confront Turkish Rioters

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Anti-government rioting spread to the capital city of Ankara yesterday and in Istanbul 80 American-built tanks rumbled to the university to confront 3,000 barricaded students.

'Learn From Korea'

SEOUL (UPI) — Members of the South Korean national assembly today warned Turkish Premier Menderes he had better give his people more freedom if he does not want to face what Syngman Rhee did here.

Democratic assemblyman Min Kwan-chik said, "Any government which practices dictatorship under the name of democracy will fall sooner or later."

Elsewhere in Ankara and Istanbul troops tear-gassed and clubbed rioters into submission as violence continued against the regime of strongman Premier Adnan Menderes.

Casualties rose as Menderes promised "swift punishment" for those demanding his downfall and the return of former president Ismet Inonu. At least three persons, one of them a girl law student, were reported killed by police gunfire and an estimated 30 persons were injured. The two-day death toll stood at 14 in the street brawling here and in Ankara.

Menderes met demands for his resignation with a radio broadcast castigating leadership of the opposition popular Republican party of Inonu. He denounced "artists," their "stooges" and "tools" of opposition for the rioting.

Lack of Drug Kills Addict

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coroner Glen McDonald believes a woman addict died Monday at Oakalla because she was out of narcotics.

He said the system of Hazel Rae, 27, "was so run down the shock of being taken off her two or three caps a day was too much."

Pearkes Holds Empty Quiver

OTTAWA (CP) — A United States congressional committee Friday left Defence Minister Pearkes holding an empty Bomarc quiver.

In the Commons, Mr. Pearkes confirmed that the U.S. House of Representatives defence appropriations committee has recommended scrapping of the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile program and spending more money on the F-106 supersonic interceptor.

Fourteen months ago, the Canadian government scrapped the Arrow supersonic interceptor on the grounds that the Bomarc would fill the anti-aircraft role. The government now has had the rug pulled from under it by the reversal in U.S. air defence policy.

Mr. Pearkes noted that the U.S. Senate and administration still have to approve the House committee's recommendations but there appeared to be only a slim chance that President Eisenhower would override Congress in this matter in view of the Bomarc's poor showing in flight tests—eight failures in nine tries—and the requested cut in the Bomarc program by the U.S. Air Force itself.

Sergeants Leading

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Two British Army sergeants who had trailed behind Dr. Barbara Moore by as much as 12 miles passed her yesterday and were leading by six miles as they took separate routes on their cross-country walking tour.

At Summit

Nikita May Ask 'Freeze' on Arms

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev may ask next month's summit conference to approve the "freezing" of all armaments at their present levels, "high-ranking western sources said yesterday."

They said Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko indicated Russian interest in such a proposal—apparently intended to halt the steady progress of West German rearmament—in talks with French officials here last month.

U.S. Shipping Boycotted In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI) — An Arab boycott of American shipping began at 12:01 a.m. today in protest over New York longshoremen's refusal to unload the Egyptian freighter Cleopatra.

The International Confederation of Arab Trade Unions said longshoremen in 20 ports from Tripoli, Libya, to Latakia, Syria, would refuse to unload and service United States vessels until the Secretary's International Union calls off its pickets.

Missile Spying?

U.S. to Dodge Red Trawlers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy promised Friday to find more inaccessible places to conduct its tests so no more Russian ships could spy on secret U.S. defence experiments.

Statement came after the navy disclosed it had photographed a Soviet trawler within a mile of tests being conducted by the first U.S. Polaris missile submarine.

Soviet vessels have been observed near other U.S. missile tests, the navy added.

The service said that while the 225-foot Russian trawler, identified as the Vega, could have picked up information of value, no vital defence secrets were involved in the Polaris tests, which continued despite the presence of the trawler.

The navy emphasized that the trawler was within its rights since the experiments were being conducted in international waters about 60 miles south of Long Island, N.Y.

The incident took place Tuesday.

One-Two Missiles Succeed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The U.S. navy last night fired a pair of Polaris ballistic missiles in an unprecedented one-two flight test series four hours apart.

First soared more than 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range. Officials said the shot "met all its test objectives."

Second also was reported fired over a range of about 1,000 miles. The bottle-shaped rocket appeared to be flying normally when it disappeared from view about four minutes after launching.

'Dead' Man Walks Out of Forest

CAP CHAT, Que. (CP) — Emilien Lajoie, 38-year-old farmer reported to have been burned to death in a fire that destroyed his home at nearby St. Paulin d'Albairre Wednesday, walked out of the woods Friday.

Lajoie and his 36-year-old wife were reported burned to death as fire swept through their wooden home Wednesday morning. Two of their four children later died. The other two are still in hospital. He was taken to hospital, where he was treated for burns. Police said he would be held as a material witness in connection with the blaze.

Police also said they would send out a search party for Mrs. Lajoie, in case she is still alive.

Record Tourist Year Meant $357,000,000

OTTAWA (UPI) — U.S. tourists spent $357,000,000 in Canada last year—Canada's record tourist year, Resources Minister Hamilton said Friday. The 1960 tourist season may set new records, Mr. Hamilton said. Inquiries about Canadian vacations received by government travel bureaus "increased substantially this year."

Last year's spending by Canadians in the U.S. amounted to a new peak of $454,000,000.

No-Bias Bill Urged for B.C.

U.S. Cannery 'Creeping Disease'

OTTAWA (CP) — What's in those cans of fruit and vegetables that the Canadian housewife selects from the supermarket shelf? The question held attention of a sparsely-attended Commons Friday.

Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East and Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness expressed concern over the state of the Canadian canning industry. But they were far apart in their diagnosis of its ills.

MUST STOP
Mr. Winch said the industry is suffering "from a creeping disease that has got to be stopped."

Chief feature of the ailment, he said, is the purchase of Canadian canneries by U.S. interests. The Canadian plants were closed down and American-produced canned goods were being shipped to Canada under Canadian brand names.

ONLY TWO
In the Okanagan Valley there were 15 or 16 Canadian canneries a few years ago. Now there were only two and these were in rapid decline. Direct financial loss to B.C. was $15,000,000 a year.

Mr. Harkness said he, too, had been "alarmed" over the canning industry situation and had called for investigations by his department. He found: True, in Ontario, the U.S. canneries were buying out small Canadian plants. But most U.S. firms had retained one of the larger plants they purchased, then expanded it, and there had been no decline in Ontario fruit and vegetable production.

Mr. Winch also criticized a government announcement April 14 of price supports for B.C. tomato growers—too late to benefit growers planning crops this year, or permit temporary expansion of canning facilities to handle them.

Mr. Harkness replied flatly that the tomato industry in B.C. is in sorry shape. For Ottawa to keep subsidizing a shrinking industry would be "like throwing money down a rat hole."

The cost of tomato production in the province had become too high to allow competition with imported tomatoes. He blamed the situation on soil deterioration, caused when the B.C. growers failed to replenish organic material in their soil.

Montreal Police Wage Increased $700 a Year

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's 2,800 policemen have won annual general pay increases of $700—amounting to more than 16 per cent—plus other new benefits in a two-year contract, it was announced Friday. Under the old contract, a constable with four years' experience earned $4,300 a year.

$467 a Month In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — An arbitration board has recommended a 3½-per-cent wage increase for 700 city policemen and a 3¼-per-cent boost for 650 firemen. The increase brings pay for a first-class constable to $467 a month.

Snow, Dust, Tornadoes Wreak Havoc in U.S.

First Flight In Space 'Very Soon'

Civilization is on the verge of manned flights into space and scientists are working on the complex problems involved in keeping astronauts alive, Dr. R. H. Lowry said here this week.

The 39-year-old head of the space medicine section, Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, spoke at the Empress Hotel to more than 100 doctors at a three-day convention of the Canadian Anaesthetists Society's western divisions.

He was confident that man will be in space "very soon now" and said, "I'll be very disappointed if I'm not up there myself."

Lack of oxygen, or "hypoxia," is the convention theme, and Dr. Lowry said effect on oxygen of such factors as space heat, vibration and toxicity must be considered when trying to build a space vehicle that will sustain life.

A multi-million dollar storm ruined most of Colorado's rich fruit crop Friday and sent a new tornado whipping across the U.S. Southwest where twisters had claimed six lives.

Snow was still falling at nightfall from northern Montana, the Colorado Rockies and northeast New Mexico into western Nebraska and South Dakota.

The snow and cold froze the blooming apple, peach, cherry and apricot trees in western Colorado and agriculture officials estimated at least 75 per cent of the crop was lost.

Dust clouds swirled over southeast New Mexico and the Texas communities of Lockhart and Giddings got more than six inches of rain in four hours.

Boys Left in Briar Patch

HAHIRA, Ga. (UPI)—A real life-like Hansel and Gretel story—the abandoning of two little boys in a rural, South Georgia briar patch — was disclosed yesterday.

The boys, four-year old Tommy and two-year old Johnny, were cared for in the home of Mrs. Grady Darby who found them, alone and crying, in the briar patch near her home.

Discovery touched off a search by 50 officers and townspeople for some trace of their parents and perhaps a baby—without success.

Tommy and Johnny could not tell the police their last names nor where they came from. But they led officers up a logging trail and pointed to a patch of pine straw in the middle of a dirt road, where they had "put the baby to sleep."

Officers said the family apparently had been living for some time in the woods, near a swamp. Witnesses reported having seen a man, woman and children walking along a railroad track near here last Tuesday. The larger of the children was carrying a baby.

Tommy could only repeat, "Johnny, baby," when he was found by Mrs. Darby. Later he told her, "Mommy and daddy left us. They said they would come."

"Mommy kissed me here," he said, pointing to his forehead. The parents left the children with two cakes and a bag of clothes.

Tommy said he and Johnny had walked across the railroad track, but when they reached the briar patch they couldn't climb a fence. "So we stayed there," he said. He said they had slept "in the bushes" and covered themselves with a coat.

The boys were dirty, scratched and hungry. A physician said they were undernourished but there was "nothing wrong a little loving care won't cure."

A number of townspeople offered to adopt the boys, but Judge Henry Brice of juvenile court said they could stay with the Darbys while the case is investigated.

At the Darby home, the boys were welcomed by three Darby children and played happily.

Refund on Faulty Car Ordered by Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dockstead Motors Ltd. was ordered Friday to refund $425 paid on account for a car that was not in good mechanical condition.

The court ruled that the firm's agent represented the car as fit for the road. Purchaser Earl Gasall said it was rejected at the city testing station because brakes and headlights were not in order. He said he returned the car but the company refused to return his money.

An Unworthy Role

IN a front page editorial the Vancouver Province joins the neutralists and defeatists by advocating that Canada scrap all its weapons and "get out of defence" altogether. The only real defence is the deterrent power of the United States, it argues, what we are doing "is no longer useful," and so "why spend money needlessly."

On this basis, since the U.S.A. is the big battalion of the Western alliance and the chief military bulwark of defence, all the rest of its allies should throw up their hands and just leave everything to Uncle Sam. One could scarcely conceive of a more unworthy role.

On this basis, also, Great Britain should have surrendered during its dark days after Dunkirk, since it was most unlikely that she could win the war against Germany single-handed. On this basis Canada should never have entered the war, since obviously her contribution could not be the major factor of all. It is a queer idea that unless one is doing the largest share one should do nothing.

The Province assumes a prescience to which few others would pretend. It affects to know all about outmoded weapons and just how another war would be fought. Actually the one sure thing about all wars is that no one ever knows in advance what course they will take. Even in a missile age it is worth noting that Soviet Russia, for instance, maintains a large fleet of manned bombers and the largest fleet of submarines.

The Province says our airplanes are old, our navy is outclassed, our army demote. It says our air division in Europe is of no use, our army brigade there has obsolete weapons, and that we should bring them home and scrap them. What the Province says is not necessarily so, however.

Certainly the NATO commander in Europe, who presumably knows much more about these things than the Vancouver Province, would not agree. The Canadian army component is one of the most efficient of the NATO group. Its armament is integrated with NATO military resources. The air force is getting new aircraft, in keeping with its role in Western Europe. The navy is not outclassed. The RCN is not meant to rival the huge carrier or other strength of the USN, for instance, or of the RN; but instead to undertake a specific task and for that purpose it has the best type of DE of any allied nation.

If there were validity in the Province's assessment then all the NATO forces except American should also be withdrawn, for their equipment is on a par with that of the Canadian forces. They work in conjunction with the major contributions of the U.S.A., however, and in total their efforts add up to an imposing allied whole. It takes no great imagination to appreciate what would happen if NATO was dispersed because each individual contributor felt its share was small and therefore not worthwhile.

The Province advocates that the Canadian regular army be turned into a civilian defence corps, that the navy be transformed into a coast guard service, that the air force become an aerial mapping and transportation agency. Then, although seemingly unaware of the contradiction, it says: "This does not mean abandoning our responsibilities as a partner in the Western Alliance. If we can make a meaningful contribution, we must, no matter the costs. If our resources can be pooled with those of our allies and our efforts integrated, all to the good."

If we are not to abandon responsibilities how can we scrap our army, navy and air force? What meaningful contribution can Canada make if it is without arms? Our resources are pooled with our allies in the joint commands and integration exists. How can Canada hope to have the slightest influence in either allied or world councils if she did as the Province suggests and showed herself to be a shirker? Who would pay any heed to her then?

Defence costs money, granted; nor is it always clear whether the money is well spent. Every allied nation faces the same problem because of shifting concepts and new weapon development. But every self-respecting nation must do its part else it is unworthy of the name of a nation. Canada would not deserve to survive if it were unwilling to lift a fighting hand in its own defence, simply to save money.

Astonishing Proposal

ONE reads with consternation bordering on disbelief a notion propounded by the new commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau as to how local merchants could get around the currency hurdle in dealings with American tourists. Among other things, Mr. Hawkins has proposed that if businessmen for the sake of goodwill prefer to accept United States money at its face value they could increase the prices of goods sold to "take care of" the difference.

This is one of the most reprehensible practices we have ever heard proposed by anyone in a position of importance and responsibility. It belongs in the same dubious category as the one whereby a sharp operator jacks up the prices of goods before knocking them down so as to deceive the public into believing that they are getting the benefit of cut prices at a bargain sale.

Leaving aside the nasty principle involved, there is to be considered also the practicability of such a ruse. Does the proposer believe for one moment that American travellers, usually shrewd buyers, could be kept long in ignorance of the fact that an attempt was being made to hoodwink them? Furthermore, where would the resident customer stand? It is the custom of retail stores to mark prices on their goods. Just how could prices be inflated in order to recoup loss on exchange on U.S. money without penalizing local people? If the idea is to have two price tags on every article, the sales clerk would have to be a skilled conjurer to get rid of the one that the buyer is not supposed to see.

Suggestions like this merely accentuate the exchange problem. Double dealing should have no place in the business of this community.

Interpreting the News

No Border Agreement

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

SMILING Premier Chou En-lai left New Delhi like a conquering hero this week, leaving a definitely chilly Prime Minister Nehru behind.

Whereas Chou managed to wave several times before the door of his airliner closed behind him, Nehru confined himself to a single wave at the last moment. Furthermore Chou insisted that friendship between Red China and India was "immortal." It appeared Nehru was not so sure.

These were surface results of Chou's week in New Delhi, during which he and Nehru spent more than 17 hours in consultation over the border dispute which has disrupted seriously relations between their two countries.

Both were committed to a policy of no retreat and both held to it.

The territory involved covers 51,000 square miles along the Sino-Indian frontier which India considers her's by treaty and tradition. It runs along the McMahon line which follows the Himalaya Mountains and the watersheds. About a third of it is all but inaccessible.

Two areas were in specific dispute. One was the Ladakh region of Kashmir, bordering Tibet. Here the Chinese have built a strategic road linking Tibet with the province of Sinkiang.

The other was in India's northeast frontier agency, where Red Chinese forces occupied Longju, killing three Indian border policemen in the process.

Chou claimed Ladakh by right of "history," and said Longju was north of the McMahon line which India considers the official boundary. Both views were exactly the opposite of those held by Nehru.

The deadlocked state of the talks left these unofficial reactions in New Delhi: The dispute may not lead to war but it will take years to settle, with a corresponding and continuous strain on relations of the two countries.

At home at least Nehru regained some of the stature he lost when news of the dispute leaked out after being officially buried for five years, and when he agreed to negotiate with Chou.

Indians were happy that he had rejected firmly all Chinese demands.

Slaughter on The Highways

By CASSANDRA, from London

MR. Patrick Gordon Walker, MP, says that "The ownership of a car is beginning to replace the ownership of a house as the expression of a man's sense of independence."

It also places within his hands the capability to kill and to mutilate.

There are over 5,000,000 car owners in Britain and they are increasing at the rate of more than 1,000 a day. Production of vehicles is rapidly rising and there are long-term plans to push the figures swiftly to the 1,500-a-day mark.

Last year 6,520 people were killed on the roads. 333,453 were injured. Over the Easter weekend at least 75 were killed and over 1,500 injured.

If we go on at the present rate of maiming and slaughtering it will not be long before the casualties reach the prodigious total of half-a-million people being killed or half-killed every year.

It is like a ceaseless battle of El Alamein where there were 13,500 casualties — only the battle of the highways never stops.

In wartime there was declared "a state of emergency" and the most urgent steps were taken. In peacetime we have a permanent state of emergency on the roads, but so far the march of the dead, the dying and the injured has not been slowed up by any government measure.

Shackled

I WRITE these words in a lather. I have just been mowing the lawn. Yet the first item I see in a newspaper, as I sit down, is the old cry about women being chained to the kitchen sink.

I should like to protest on behalf of hundreds of thousands of men chained to the mower. We, too, have our shackles. The doltish, stubborn thing won't start. You de-plug it. You kick it. You curse it. Then, when it does cough into stuttering life, you have to run endless miles after it, disentangling it from 5-inch nails, 22-gauge wire, and chewed-up leads and soldiers.

Give me a stationary sink any time.

More to Lose

SOME people have been surprised at the youth of thousands of the Aldermaston demonstrators who took part in the Ban-the-Bomb march which culminated in the greatest rally in Trafalgar Square since V-E Day. May I suggest one reason?

Is it that young folks have more life to lose? When you are 20 the expectation of life is 50 years for a man and 55 for a woman. When you are 60 it is only 10 for a man and 15 for a woman.

Thought for Today

ON the recovery of Dr. Verwoerd, by his wife Mrs. Verwoerd:

"I see the hand of God in the absolute miracle that not only was Dr. Verwoerd's life spared, but also that he is expected to recover and continue the struggle. Is it not a sign to us that we are on the right path and God is with us?"

Reports from Ottawa

THE milch cow of the Canadian oil and gas industry has been, to a great extent and for a long time, the United States treasury.

A fortnight ago the government here promulgated new gas and oil regulations for the territories and territorial waters that may reduce production by this benevolent bovine.

Officially, of course, the U.S. treasury has no interest in our gas and oil fields as such. But in fact the leniency of U.S. tax law enables U.S. oil companies to use profits, otherwise heavily taxable, for exploration and development. Canada has been one of the main beneficiaries of this U.S. policy, to the point that about 75 per cent of the Canadian industry is owned or controlled by American capital.

This high percentage has been a matter of concern to the government. It has been deemed as "foreign ownership of Canadian resources." In drafting the new gas and oil regulations for areas under federal rather than provincial jurisdiction, the government attempted to lay out a policy which would bring Canadians and Canadian capital substantially into the oil and gas development picture.

The regulations say that the only corporations to which the government will grant oil and gas leases are those incorporated in Canada. And then only if Canadians own at least half of the company's shares or if the shares are listed on a Canadian stock exchange so Canadians can buy them.

The "or" clause is the pain killer — it means that U.S. companies need only incorporate Canadian subsidiaries and list them on the market. A number have done this during the last few years. Canadian investment dollars will have a chance to participate, but U.S. capital will remain in control.

But it is wise to encourage Canadian capital, which is limited in supply, to enter the extremely speculative field of investment that is represented by oil and gas operations in, say, the Arctic Islands?

Knowledgeable persons I have talked to suggest not. They say this is the kind of high-risk, long-range investment that should be left to surplus U.S. capital fleeing from Uncle Sam's T-men. Canadian investment dollars can be put to much better use, they say, in development and production more immediately required. If gas and oil are found in the Arctic, they may have to wait a generation or more for markets.

There is evidence of a sharp split in cabinet over the "Canadianization" of the oil and gas regulations, with the result being a compromise.

There were months of delay while the cabinet sought a formula that would satisfy both the northern visionaries, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Resources Minister Hamilton, and the economic realists like Finance Minister Fleming and Trade Minister Churchill.

The new rules on which they settled will let U.S. dollars in without real difficulty, while extending a tempting Arctic cornucopia to Canadian investors. The impression of the average investor is likely to be that the government is turning U.S. dollars back at the border to give him, Mr. Investor, a chance to get in on the ground floor of a great new development that will pour profits into his pockets.

A cynic might say that this is not a bad impression for politicians to make before an election.

Trials of Pronunciation

By GREGORY CLARK

IN handling the news the newspapers have one great advantage over radio. They just have to spell the names of foreign statesmen; they don't have to pronounce them. And it is in the pronunciation of such names as Verwoerd that the newscasters put on some pretty fancy performances.

How the name Verwoerd is pronounced by the gentleman himself not even a Dutchman would know; because the Afrikaans language has a number of peculiarities all its own. Soon after the eruption of trouble in South Africa, one of the news magazines which prides itself in giving not only the hidden meaning of the news but also the correct sound of it, announced that Verwoerd is pro-

Strain on Government

(From The Winnipeg Tribune)

YEAR by year the business of government becomes more complex; new programs are developed and new fields entered. The number of law changes required of a legislature or parliament each year is steadily rising. Even with the most efficient use of its time, the job of Parliament takes more time each year.

Some political thinkers feel that this process will eventually put an intolerable strain on the parliamentary institutions which were quite adequate for the simpler society of the past. Some see signs of the breakdown of Parliament already in the growing power of the cabinet.

Some way must be found to meet the challenge which our age poses to parliamentary government. Although it did develop in a simpler society, no better device has yet been found for combining political freedom with strong and stable government.

Inter-Play of Ideas

Brotherhood Of Nations

By W. N. EWER, from London

IT is not by design but by fortune that an accident that two weeks before the summit meeting in Paris there will be two other meetings at which, among other things, its problems will be discussed.

The NATO council of foreign ministers meets in Istanbul from May 2 to 4. It is its regular spring session, held every year at this time.

The other meeting will be that of the Commonwealth prime ministers which opens in London on May 3. These meetings are not regular. But they are frequent. This will be the sixth in the last 10 years. The date was in fact agreed upon before the summit date had been fixed.

They are both examples of that process of "continuing consultation" between allied or associated governments which has become so important a feature of modern international relations.

The Commonwealth is the prototype. Apart from temporary alliances for specific purposes it is, I think, the first example in history of an association of equal, sovereign and independent states.

It evolved from the former British colonial empire. The "colonies" first achieved self-government in their own affairs. Then, by the final step, complete independence from all control by the United Kingdom, including full power over their own external relations.

It is a unique association, neither regional nor racial. It spreads over five continents. Its members are of Asian and African as well as of European stock. That, I think, gives it a special value in a world tending to divide itself into regional, racial or "ideological" blocks.

It defies definition; but it is valued by its members. It is surely significant that of all the territories formerly under British sovereignty which have become independent states in this century only two—Burma and the Republic of Ireland—have chosen to leave the Commonwealth, though all were entirely free to do so.

Of its very nature, then, the association is politically in the main a consultative one. No Commonwealth country can dictate the policy of another. Nor do they take joint decisions. But they do consult each other and discuss with each other and take each other's views into account. It is the variety of these views as well as their world-wide range which gives these consultations, and in particular these informal meetings of heads of government, their special value.

NATO has, as it were, taken on something of the same quality. In the beginning it was essentially a military alliance for a specific purpose—the defence of Western Europe. But it has gradually and inevitably become as well a vehicle for political consultation and co-operation.

As in the Commonwealth, no member state can dictate or determine the policy or actions of any other. But prior consultation among members before reaching decisions on any matter of common concern is now an accepted rule.

The council of ministers last December took note of the Three-Power invitation to the Soviet Union to a summit meeting in the spring. It added: "It agrees with the arrangements made to secure full consultation with all member governments during the preparation of these negotiations, and undertakes to play a constructive part in ensuring their success."

So President Eisenhower, President de Gaulle and Prime Minister Macmillan all go to meet Mr. Khrushchev with the full knowledge of the thoughts and minds of all their NATO partners. Mr. Macmillan in addition will go, knowing the more varied thoughts and minds of his Commonwealth colleagues in Africa, North America, Asia and Australasia.

This is the result of what we have come to call "continuing consultation"—with the added good chance of these two conferences coming just before the summit.

It is something more than just a way of conducting affairs. It is something more than that always-valuable thing—free exchange and interplay of ideas. It is an experiment in solving one of the most difficult of political problems: the problem of achieving free and fruitful co-operation between completely independent states, without any question of supremacy or paramountcy of any one country over those associated with it.

Letters to the Editor

Working Wives

At the risk of being most unpopular in some quarters, may I suggest that in view of the present serious unemployment situation in Canada, married women, whose husbands are gainfully employed, should give up their jobs; also that "moonlighting" should be rigidly suppressed.

Another serious source of unemployment is the number of jobs held down at present, and sometimes at cut rates, by retired persons, who are already drawing pensions.

Perhaps the labor unions, could control some of these practices, but the government should be asked to bring in suitable legislation to stop them.

There are many men out of work at present—some with quite large families; on the other hand there are many wives working who should be at home looking after their families.

E. W. ABRAHAM.

Leg-Hold Traps

A few reasons on the folly of any government enacting legislation which would outlaw the leg-hold traps.

For water animals, muskrats, beaver, otter and mink: All these animals when trapped take to water and drown, if traps are well set weighted and on line to deep water. The nature of these animals is to take to water. Before the First World War I trapped thousands of muskrats, etc., in the Northwest Territories. The season used to run March 1 through to May. At that time of year crows coming north in large flocks would scavenge any muskrat left high and dry and render pelts unfit. That is one reason why we drowned all muskrats.

This is quite human. Ask any beaver or otter trapper, if 99 per cent of his beavers are not drowned, same as mink on waterways.

Now it takes all kinds of traps, snares and deadfalls on a well-run trap line, as any trapper knows. A Connebear and Biglow trap should help along a well tended trap line on certain land animals. I think all trappers and trapper associations across the Dominion and U.S.A. will agree with me, not to outlaw the leg-hold trap.

Victoria's Beauty

When the writer and his wife were in your city March 23-24 this year, we heard rumors that the old lamp posts may be removed, in the business district. That would be a calamity. By all means keep them. Decorate them with flowerbaskets in summer. It is something extra for the tourists to marvel at and admire. As you no doubt know, Stockholm, Sweden, is thus decorated during summer months. Chicago, we noticed a year ago, is adapting the idea—a good one.

One wonders if all your Victorians really appreciate what they have in natural beauty. It should be the duty and the pride of every good citizen in your city to keep Victoria beautiful and it can be done only by the co-operation of all the people and they in turn will be richly rewarded because their own homes will become more valuable and desirable. There is no greater asset to any community than order and cleanliness.

Summit Shift

No Nixon Nikita's Stand?

LONDON (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev may object to Vice-President Nixon sitting in at the summit conference if President Eisenhower is forced to leave Paris at the end of a week because of "domestic requirements," Soviet experts said Friday.

While there has been no official reaction from America's major European allies, diplomatic sources privately expressed uneasiness at the possible effect of such a switch. However, they said the allies are unlikely to raise any open objections.

Mainly they feel Khrushchev might interpret this as a "scaling down" of United States representation.

Khrushchev has openly expressed his respect for Eisenhower and voiced confidence in the president's goodwill, but apparently has little liking for Nixon.

They clashed in what was known as the "kitchen debate" during Nixon's visit to the Soviet Union last year. Since then, Moscow has been critical of Nixon.

Post Office Skips U.S. Coin Discount

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General William Hamilton confirmed Friday that in some areas postmasters have been instructed to pass United States coins on to the public rather than incur the banks' discount by depositing them.

Norman Keith Loadman, 1939 Pandora, was sentenced yesterday in city police court to 20 days jail on a charge of false pretences.

Anti-Columbia Lobby 'Irresponsible Claim'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of Peace River Power Development Co. Friday night described as "completely irresponsible" a charge the company is employing a U.S. engineer to lobby against development of the Columbia River.

W. C. Mainwaring, commenting on the charge by B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault, said "this statement shows how completely irresponsible he is in making statements he thinks will benefit his political future."

Mr. Mainwaring said Seattle engineer J. D. Stevens was engaged as a consultant.

Soft Pedal Africa John D Urges

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker, arriving Friday to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference which opens Tuesday, predicted the principal topics will be the summit conference, disarmament and prospects for a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

As for South Africa, Diefenbaker favors a moderate approach.

"Uncontrolled words will not be effective in bringing about a solution to race problems," he said.

"As long as we can maintain channels of communication with South Africa, there is hope of improving the situation."

Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan said the policies of South Africa were "ruinous, dangerous, and to my mind suicidal."

"Commonwealth leaders should really exert more pressure on South Africa," he said.

"If they understood that people were merely trying to be helpful, they would perhaps listen to the wisdom of their views."

VERY UNFORTUNATE

"I am in favor of South Africa being discussed, so long as it doesn't aggravate the very unfortunate situation."

"How that can be done, I don't know. Perhaps private discussions with South African leaders would help."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Federal Power Commission examiner Friday recommended conditional approval of an application by Pacific Gas Transmission Co. of San Francisco to import some $84,500,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day from Canada.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters) — Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman said Friday he will raise the issue of South Africa's racial policies at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London next week.

Depressed Wall Street Waits Test

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market ran into further selling that drove prices down to near their 1960 lows. A brief recovery before noon enabled a number of the major industrials to show pluses, but selling pressure again dropped prices to around their lows for the day.

The decline was the sixth in a row. Industrial stocks at 601.70, were at their lowest level since March 8 when the figure was 599.10. The average has fallen 17.45 points in the week.

One technician said the two-day sell-off could not be considered a genuine test of the lows since at no time during the trading was there any indication of a selling climax.

A report that auto sales fell this week would send the motors lower.

Dr. Pont paid the blue chips with a loss of 2 1/2 at 201 1/2. American Tobacco, Owens-Illinois and International Nickel fell a point or more.

International Paper countered with a gain of 2 1/2 at 101 1/2. Predictions of lower steel operations in the second and third quarters brought some selling into the steels. Lukens fell more than a point as did Youngstown Sheet. U.S. Steel eased, Bethlehem firmed.

Electronics were mixed. International Business Machines added 8 at 452 1/2. Ampheon-Borg jumped nearly 2 points. Motorola and Zenith dropped 2 or better.

Sour Note Finish

TORONTO (CP)—An earlier rally, that had been gathering momentum among industrials, collapsed in the afternoon and the stock market ended yet another week on a sour note.

Some spectacular losses among industrials helped to push the market down, with International Paper off 5 1/2 at 98. Chrysler and Eddy Paper A off four points at 45 and 61.

Canadian Wall Paper B off 2 1/2. Canada Permanent Mortgage off 2 1/2 and Ford of Canada off two.

Among the winners, Hinde and Dauch went ahead a point at 54. Trans-Prairie Pipe gained 1/2 at 12 1/2. Consumers' Gas and Creative Telefilm both improved.

Mines found some support, with Cassiar and Kerr-Addison ahead 1/2 at 12 1/2 and 13 1/2. Noranda slipped 1/2 at 38 1/2. Steep Rock was off 25 cents at $9.15 and International Nickel lost 1/2 at 50 1/2.

Western oils were weaker with Dome Petroleum off 40 cents at $6.70, Canadian Superior off 25 cents at $9.50 and Great Plains and Home Oil B both off 15 cents at $9 and $7.90. Hudson's Bay gained 1/2 at 10 1/2.

U.S. Ford Plunges

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed lower in light trading.

Leading the way down was Ford U.S. with a plunge of 4 1/2 to 63 1/2, its lowest level in 4 years. Bowater dropped 1 1/2 at 7 1/2 and Atlas Steel fell 2.

On the up side, Bathurst Power and Paper A added 1/2 at 44. Gattineau climbed 1/2 at B.C. Telephone 1/2.

In a quiet Western oil and mining group, Calgary and Edmonton rose 1/2 at 16 1/2 and Steep Rock declined 15 cents at $9.25.

Mines were easier, with Bralorne off 30 cents at 4.70 and Craigmont down 15 cents at 3.95.

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Honorary posts for two outstanding Canadian executives were created yesterday.

R. E. Powell, former president of Aluminum Company of Canada, and a director of Aluminum Ltd., has been appointed honorary chairman of Alcan.

Dr. John F. Thompson, chairman and chief officer of International Nickel Company of Canada, has been appointed honorary chairman of the board and will continue as chairman of the executive committee.

Aluminum Ltd. announced that taking Mr. Powell's place as senior vice-president was Edwin J. Mejia.

The new chairman of International Nickel is Henry U. Wingate who has been with the company since 1933. J. Roy Gordon, executive vice-president, becomes Inco's vice-president and Ralph D. Parker becomes senior vice-president.

Grain Market

WINNIPEG (CP)—A fairly active trade in flax developed today on the Winnipeg grain exchange with buying by ships and overseas interests.

Demand in flax was aggressive. Oats and barley trade was quiet.

New Imperial vice-president elected was Vernon Taylor and L. D. Fraser, while a newcomer to the board is D. S. Simmons, general manager of Imperial's manufacturing department.

AT DOUBLE PACE

The Canadian oil industry is expected to increase its production this year at a rate of nine per cent, according to J. R. White, retiring president of Imperial Oil.

Mr. White at the company's annual meeting said this was double the expected advance rate of the economy as a whole.

PROFITS INCREASED

Net profit of Sherritt Gordon in the first quarter of 1960 was $962,000 (8 1/2 cents a share). In the corresponding period of 1959 the net profit was $459,000 (4 1/2 cents).

SPLIT APPROVED

Shareholders of Southam Co. Ltd. have approved a four-for-one stock split.

LAFARGE EXPANDS

Latest expectation in local financial circles is that there will be an issue shortly of 300,000 common shares of Lafarge Cement of Canada. The funds raised will go towards the recent acquisition of the cement and building products distribution firm of Deeks McBride, Ltd.

U.S. Expert Recommends Gas Project

WASHINGTON (CP)—A Federal Power Commission examiner recommended Friday approval of a project for importing a vast amount of Alberta natural gas into the Pacific northwest region of the United States. The imports would be subject to stringent examination of profits to protect consumers.

The plan is to distribute 213,300,000 cubic feet of Alberta natural gas a year through the operations of Alberta and Southern Gas Company Limited and the pipelines of Alberta Gas Trunkline Company Limited and Alberta Natural Gas Company.

Receiving the gas on the U.S. side would be the Pacific Gas Transmission Company Limited, El Paso Natural Gas Company and Montana Power Company.

The recommendation, subject to review by the commissioners before it becomes effective, would involve piping surplus Alberta gas through British Columbia and down through Montana, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and the northern half of California into the fuel-short San Francisco basin.

Examiner Robert Weston said he would make his recommendation on a basis that the commission would examine company reports to protect consumers during the period of evolution of further Canadian regulations covering producer and pipeline profits.

It must be intimately personal and should not be seen by anyone except yourself. The list must be as comprehensive as you can make it. Other cigarette addicts who have used the program successfully and pleasantly have compiled lists of more than 50 reasons for quitting.

ally, your life expectancy probably is going to be higher when you quit smoking—even if nothing else matters to you.

Personal—This category has to be up to you. Dig deep for reasons, and remember that no one but you is going to see the list. For instance, one ex-smoking addict confessed that he listed one reason for quitting as "having enhanced sex appeal in respect to bobby-soxers" (as a matter of fact, your sexual prowess probably will be increased, due to your sudden resurgence of both physical energy and psychological confidence) and that this consideration sustained him mightily during the first hours and days during the program.

Search your mind and list all the most intimate reasons you can think of. One good device to use is to consider your advantages in terms of your financial savings: that new fishing rod or Lily Dache dress, or that trip to Bermuda that can be yours now. And these are real bonuses, too.

Many of the successful "stoppers" made it a point to list a number of "encouraging thoughts" on their lists of reasons, for quick referral during the early days of their programs. This is an excellent idea. It serves to remind one of facts which are abundantly clear before and after a program but perhaps forgotten during the excitement of the program itself.

Here are a few thoughts jotted down by these foresighted individuals:
• Only the first three days are in any way seriously threatening. Another eleven and the "worst" is over. Then!
• Remember to dramatize myself as "romantic comebacker!"

• Remind myself that I was once a rough, tough sergeant in the army. I can take anything they dish out!

• Will be less "foggy" on the third day; constantly diminishing "anxiety"; then feel better than in years. (This patient was, of course, trying to anticipate his feelings in respect to the drug-therapy aspects of the program. Like everyone else, he found that he experienced little or no foginess or anxiety after all. The idea was reassuring, nonetheless.)

• Don't forget "suppression!" You take it from here.

Two weeks before your quitting day, change your brand of cigarettes again, this time choosing the brand you like least, but which will stave off actual craving and nervousness. You're not expected to enjoy this week's smoking (remember that you weren't enjoying your old favorites much either), but you won't be suffering.

***
You'll still be smoking. As much as you ever smoked, if you like. Continue abstinence, and the compilation of your list of reasons for stopping smoking.

Seven days before Q-Day change to the mildest cigarette that will stave off craving and nervousness, and continue all the stipulations of the two preceding weeks. Some recovered cigarette addicts found that the so-called "denicotinized" products did the job for them; a few even used these cigarettes in holders which themselves contained traps and filters.

***
A summary of these preliminary steps before we stop smoking looks like this:

Q-Day Minus 21:
• Change brand of cigarettes.

• Eliminate smoking before breakfast, for one hour after meals, and for one hour before retiring.

• Drink a glass of fruit juice or the juice of a lemon and water upon awakening.

• After every meal brush teeth and rinse mouth with hydrogen peroxide solution.

• Actively suppress all thoughts of smoking.

• Prepare a list of reasons for quitting smoking.

Q-Day Minus 14:
• Change to the brand of cigarettes you like the least.

• Continue to follow all other rules listed above.

Q-Day Minus 7:
• Bridge Results

Winners of the weekly tournament of the Altimare Bridge Club were:
1. Ethel Cleworth and Simon Martin; 2. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arlett; 3. Del Hill and Walt Allen; 4. Lillian Leblond and Walt Allen; 5. Dora Dupont and Harry Perry.

• Change to the mildest brand of cigarette available.
• Follow all rules above.

Five years may see a big change in your responsibilities. Five years may see a big change in your life insurance needs. For these very reasons, Sun Life of Canada offers its new ADJUSTABLE POLICY, the policy that gives you four options at the end of five years so that you can decide what type of life insurance coverage best suits you at that time.

For example, will you still be insurable? One of the options offers you increased coverage with no further medical evidence . . . or . . . will you want a larger income for your retirement years? Another option allows you to change your policy to an endowment at age 65 . . . or . . . will you want to reduce your premium outlay without reducing your protection? Then you can change your policy to a lower premium, whole life policy . . . Or you also have the option of keeping your original policy—which will be fully paid for at age 65—in effect. This plan may meet your personal and family insurance needs for a lifetime.

With its four valuable options, Sun Life's Adjustable Policy looks to your future and considers

- your financial circumstances
- your family's protection
- your retirement income
- your insurability

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest, with more than $3,000 worth of prizes, opens Sunday and the outlook for fishermen is getting rosier all the time.

The fine weather seems to be settling in and some big fish are starting to show. Any angler who is not already a subscriber to the Colonist would be well advised to take out a subscription right away, because although there are crests and trophies for everyone in the contest, only subscribers may win the all-expense-paid trip for two to Acapulco, the aluminum carport boat or the scores of other merchandising prizes.

Subscription forms are now available at practically every boat rental business on Vancouver Island.

The big spring salmon are starting to show off Victoria waters. John Martindale reeled in a 22-pounder off Trial Island last Sunday and Don Blome a 16 1/2-pounder in the same waters. Sam Spence got an 18 1/2-pounder at Brentwood Sunday and Harry Talbot brought in a 19 1/2-pounder. In Peddie Bay waters L. Hobbs got a 23 1/2-pounder and Bill Dobbie got a 21-pounder and a 20-pounder on Sunday and on Monday L. Alford got a 13 1/2-pounder.

At the Goldstream end of Saanich Inlet Ed. Fong reeled in a 20 1/2-pounder he hooked into near the Stone House on Strip Teaser. L. H. Mitchell caught a 14 1/2-pounder on Strip Teaser near Goldstream Island on Sunday and Tony Rosin got his limit of jacksprings.

Garry Petrie reeled in a 14 1/2-pounder and 12 1/2-pounder from the Misery Bay area. Others who have been having success with bluebacks and jack springs include Art Mawer, Bert Brayshaw, G. Anderson, Bill Barr and R. Shidler.

The blues are going for the bucktails, a faded blue color, trailed on the top.

Last weekend the bluebacks were being taken right inside Victoria Harbor from Fisherman's Wharf and West Bay to the Breakwater and Brothie Ledge. They dropped off after the weekend and fishing has been spotty since. Similar conditions have prevailed in Oak Bay waters. Chumnaus, Nanaimo, Nanose, Parksville and Qualicum waters are all giving up blues.

Fishing off Oak Bay, Bobby Gibson found it too windy to go after salmon, but landed four dandy ling cod.

Freshwater anglers should have no trouble getting fish and each trout or bass weighing one pound or more fishes for another chance at hidden weight prizes in the King Fisherman contest.

Cusheon and St. Mary's Lake on Salt Spring Island are producing fairly well on the troll and with flies. Shawigan is improving and Prospect is good with the bass hitting worms. Thetis Lakes have been good with both worms and flies.

The fish and game branch reports Cowichan River and Cowichan Lake good with worms and grubs in the river and lake troll in the lake. Somenos and Quamichan are fair. Dequains Lake is good with worm and flies and Kokilah and Chumnaus Rivers are only fair.

In Nanaimo lake the Nanaimo Lakes, Quennell Lake, Brannen Lake, Diver Lake and Holden Lake are all fair with worms the best bait, but steelhead fishing has fallen off. In the Alberni, Mossam River is improving and Sproat Lake is only fair. Little Qualicum River is fair for fly fishermen and Cameron Lake, Great Central Lake, and Sproat Lake are all reported fair.

But there was some consolation for both clubs. Jones was victimized by eight unearned runs and the White Sox came through to win their game behind the fine relief pitching of Turk Lown.

Jones and Willie McCovey each booted once in the fifth inning as Los Angeles Dodgers overcame a 2-1 deficit with an eight-run uprising which set up the eventual 10-2 win. A grand-slam home run by catcher John Roseboro highlighted the rally.

Also picking up ground on the Giants and idled Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League were Milwaukee Braves, who got exceptional relief pitching to hold off the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-3.

Southpaw Juan Pizarro pitched six overpowering innings in relief of Bob Buhl, allowing no hits and striking out nine of the 19 batters he faced. When he hit his arm, the Braves called on Warren Spahn to pitch the ninth inning.

In the other National League game the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost their first five, balanced their record for the season at 6-6 with a 16-6 blasting of Chicago Cubs.

The Cards won it in the eighth, when they sent 13 men to the plate in scoring 10 runs. Bill White had four hits, including a home run, and Daryl Spencer, another of the Cards' ex-Giants, had a home run, double and single.

The Cubs could counter only with Ernie Banks, their one-man gang. He drove in all their runs with two three-run homers. They were the 23rd and 23rd of his career, a club high.

Cleveland Indians nipped Kansas City Athletics, 5-4, to tighten the race and trail by only two games although in last place.

Gene Woodling, who is always at his best against his former teammates, drove in what proved to be the winning run. The Orioles have now won five in a row and are actually sharing a game tie for the lead although behind in percentage.

There's More of Moore But Jim Gives the Idea

By JIM TANG

Jimmy McLarnin, a Belfast-born Canadian who came out of Vancouver more than three decades back to become Canada's most famous fighter, might well be dubbed the small man's Archie Moore.

There is only one difference besides their weights. Moore is still active in the ring while McLarnin hasn't had a fight for 24 years. But the former welterweight champion, who admits to 53 years, hardly looks a year older than Moore, who admits to nothing and is accused, and with some reason, of being as old as 49.

WEARING WELL

McLarnin only pushes the scales to 155 pounds even now, and that's only a dozen pounds over his best fighting weight of 142 pounds in his best fighting days, which were in the early '30s. He has almost all of his hair, only a little of it has turned to grey, and no one who didn't know would ever suspect that his first listed professional fight was in 1923.

To give you an idea, that was the year of the famed Dempsey-Firpo fight and three years before Dempsey lost his title to Gene Tunney.

Like Moore, McLarnin attributes his amazing health to diet.

"You've got to watch what you eat," he said last night in simple explanation when asked for the secret of his youthful appearance. He's likely to win some converts to this line of thinking at Memorial Arena tonight.

McLarnin is in Victoria to be guest of honor at tonight's Shrine Western Canada boxing championships. He will be introduced at ringside and will be the third man in the ring for two or three bouts.

A better example for the 31 amateurs who will be contesting for the 10 championships couldn't be found.

McLarnin's family came to Canada when he was three years old, settling on a farm at Mortlach, about 25 miles west of Moose Jaw, Sask. The McLarnins moved to Vancouver six or seven years later and it wasn't long before he had won his spurs as a fighter.

"I started fighting when I was 10—we were hungry in those days," he says. He was only in his mid-teens when he had his first real pro fight, which explains why the Ring Record Book lists his natal year as 1905 when it was actually 1907.

"I had to tell a little lie to get started," he grinned.

Taken in hand by the late Pop Foster, McLarnin rose rapidly to the top, was good enough by Jan. 13, 1925, to win a 10-round decision over Fidel Labarba, who was good enough to win the flyweight championship later that year.

Before he retired at 29, McLarnin was to fight 14 world champions, win and lose the welterweight championship twice.

His first title chance came on May 21, 1928, when he was decided by Sammy Mandell, lightweight ruler. McLarnin had trouble making the lightweight limit and was never to hold that title although he twice won decisions over Mandell within the next two years.

Both were over-the-weight bouts.

In 1932, McLarnin knocked out the great Benny Leonard in the sixth round and took Sam Fuller in eight to earn a chance at the welterweight title.

He met Young Corbett on May 29, 1933, and knocked the champion out in the first round. A year later, he lost a 15-round decision to Barney Ross, then got the verdict and the title back in the return go later that year.

Ross won the rubber match on May 28, 1935, and McLarnin was to have only three more fights before calling it a career. He split two decisions with Tony Canzoneri and, in his last fight, decisively lost to Ambers.

"Pop told me to take it easy for a year," McLarnin related, "I took up golf and before I knew it 10 years had slipped by."

He had settled down in California, first in Beverly Hills and then in Glendale, where he is a neighbor of Casey Stengel.

"I'm not losing any more now," he said. "I've got to get those kids through school."

He has girls 20, 17 and 12 years and a boy of six—"I didn't do as well as my dad, he had 12."

MAN TO REMEMBER McLarnin has never forgotten Pop Foster.

"He was a wonderful manager, just the greatest," he said of the man who steered him to boxing success and financial security.

"A good manager is everything to a fighter but let's talk about tomorrow night. I hear you have some pretty good boys here for this show. I'm looking forward to seeing it."

He shouldn't be disappointed. Included in the entry of 31 are all 10 B.C. champions, three champions from both Alberta and Saskatchewan and four from Seattle.

MAN TO WATCH Included in the Washington State contingent is welterweight Quincy Daniels, who only last week won the U.S. Olympic trials for his division.

Daniels, to win the Western Canada title, will have to get by some tough opposition. It includes B.C. champion Bill Adams, a 1956 Canadian Olympic team member from Alberta—Walter Kosak—and Joe Hegedus, three-times Hungarian champion before coming to Canada.

And it won't be much, if any easier, in the other weight classes. It will take 21 fights to decide the 10 champions with the first one to start at 7 p.m.

Speaking Briefly

Recognition Comes at Last For Steady Don McKenney

Don McKenney, a Boston forward who has long skated in the shadow of some of hockey's super-stars, has finally been recognized with his first major National Hockey League award—the Lady Byng Trophy for being selected as the player best combining sportsmanship and ability.

Announcement of the award, which also brings with it $1,000 from the NHL, came the day before McKenney's 26th birthday.

One of the steadiest players Boston Bruins have had since he came up in 1954, McKenney always found his way blocked when it came time to hand out awards. When he was a left winger, there was always a Ted Lindsay or a Dickie Moore to beat him out.

Shifted to centre this year, he had to contend with the likes of Jean Beliveau and Henri Richard to say nothing of teammate Bronco Horvath, who came up with his best-ever season.

In compiling a 20-49 record this season for the eighth-best point total, McKenney drew only 28 minutes in penalties. In the Lady Byng voting McKenney drew 68 points to 47 for runner-up Andy Hebenton, who won the trophy in 1958. Alex Delvecchio, 1959 winner, was third with 44 points while Henri Richard and Phil Goyette of Montreal were next with 33 and 29 points respectively.

CAROL HEISS, world and Olympic figure-skating champion, and Hayes Alan Jenkins, former men's world and Olympic champion, will be married in New York today.

James D. Norris, former head of the International Boxing Club, is planning to build a $5,000,000 indoor sports arena in London, England. The embryo Continental League, planning to become the third major baseball league by 1962 at the latest, got a big boost when New York City's board of estimate approved a proposed 55,000-seat stadium, to be built in Queens at a cost of $15,000,000.

Frank Tripucka, 31-year-old quarterback who starred for years with Saskatchewan Roughriders, has signed to play with Denver Broncos of the American Football League. Charlie Moore, an end from North-Eastern State College of Oklahoma has been signed by Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four. Toronto Argos of the same league have signed Jim Davis, guard and centre with University of Oklahoma last year.

ONTARIO RUGBY FOOTBALL UNION was thrown into a turmoil yesterday when Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen announced they wouldn't operate this season. Michael Goluboff, an 18-year-old taking part in a supervised boxing tournament at a Green Bay, Wis., reformatory, suffered injuries which apparently caused his death from a brain hemorrhage.

Tompion May End Derby Jinx

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—C. V. (Sonny) Whitney, wealthy New York sportsman, is more confident than ever that his colt, Tompion, will help him smash a long-standing jinx in the Kentucky Derby next Saturday.

Whitney never has owned a Derby winner, although he has entered horses in the classic almost every year for the last three decades.

Tompion, though could break the spell. Already regarded as the horse to beat in this year's Derby, the son of Tom Fool romped to a 2 1/2-length victory in the $25,000 added Blue Grass Stakes Saturday at Keeneland.

Tompion thus continued to follow in the footsteps of last year's Derby winner, Tomy Lee, adding the Blue Grass victory to last week's win in the seven-furlong Fore-runner purse. He even matched Tomy Lee's Blue Grass time of 1:49.35 for the mile and a furlong route.

Pinched back at the start, Tompion still had no trouble rushing past E. P. Taylor's Canadian challenger, Victoria Park, on the final turn and pulling away to win easily.

Tompion didn't let it go at that, however, but went on to work the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in a startling 3:00.45—a record and equalled by only three other Derby winners.

Willie Shoemaker, who'll be seeking his second straight Derby victory on Tompion, was well pleased.

"He ran just as well today as he did last week, maybe better. Victoria Park pinched us back at the start, but he recovered nicely and had no trouble. He spit the bit out on the backstretch for a second, but took hold good when I asked him to move," Shoemaker said.

Bill Hartack, on Victoria Park, got much the same impression from a different angle.

"The colt ran a good race, but he just couldn't stay with the winner. I knew when Tompion was coming to us, and my colt ran with him for a 16th of a mile, but that was it."

Hartack has considered both Victoria Park and Venetian Way for his Derby ride, and now would seem to lean to the latter.

Victoria Park's trainer, Horatio Luro, was a bit discouraged at the idea of trying to hold off Tompion again.

"We had no excuses," said Luro. "I thought he would hang on better... I don't know what our next race will be. The Derby looks doubtful." He wanted him to go to Louisville Saturday.

Cyclists Set For Island Championship

Riders from Washington, Oregon and the B.C. mainland will assure tight competition in all classes Sunday as the Victoria Motorcycle Club presents the annual Vancouver Island scrambles championships.

The meet is to be held at Pedder Bay at 1 p.m. Sunday. The route to the course will be clearly marked by arrows from Colwood Corner out Metcheson Road.

Defending champion of the meet is Victoria's Tom Richardson who will compete Sunday along with clubmates Ernie Hills, Wes Morhart and Vern Amor. Top mainland threat is Dayton McKenzie of Vancouver, runner-up last season.

Logger Petit Point Artist

Convict Stitches Stake in Future

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN—A man in the B.C. Penitentiary serving a life sentence hasn't many chances of making a "stake" for when he gets out.

But Tom Sims, 35, a logger from Duncan, has become an expert at handicrafts to do just that.

Many homes here have large petit point reproductions of paintings of old masters done recently by Sims.

COMMUTED TO LIFE

He was sentenced to be hanged for murder in the rifle slaying of Paul Fowling, then 25, on Jan. 1, 1957, in the bedroom of his estranged wife's apartment.

So far his sister, Mrs. Alex Stark, 238 First, has sold $1,400 worth of his work. A part of the money went to defray legal costs. The rest went into government bonds.

VERY ADEPT

"Tom has become very adept at petit point," Mrs. Stark said yesterday. "He's certainly the last person you would expect to do something like that."

Friends say the rough-and-tumble logger was more known for masculine sports than handling a needle.

But, her brother is getting along "very nicely, thank you," said Mrs. Stark. Sims "deeply appreciates" the number of petitions across the country who were instrumental in getting his death penalty commuted.

And he is working very hard in an effort to prove he is worthy of parole, she said.

All his spare time is spent producing petit point, copper etchings, billfolds, photo albums and Indian sweaters. Mrs. Stark says he works at them early in the morning before breakfast and late at night after his day's work.

"I can't say how many hours he takes on one of them, but it must be hundreds of hours," he said. "One petit point 10 by 15 inches has about 140,000 stitches. I can't remember exactly, but it is an awful lot." Earliest he can hope to come up before a board of parole is about 1964.

"He has a little money put by now," said Mrs. Stark. "By then he hopes to have more... he has the time."

Kirby Fund At $6,500 Still Going

The fund for the family of Const. Robert Kirby passed the $6,500 mark last night, and contributions are still coming in.

Const. Kirby was killed when shot by a mental patient Sunday night, leaving his widow Dorothy and four children.

Divorce Stall Still On

OTTAWA (UPI)—Government members of Parliament yesterday attempted in vain to end the divorce filibuster in the House of Commons.

Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) and Arnold Peters (CCF-Timiskaming) both gave clear indications they would continue to stall progress on the divorce bills which normally are given quick approval.

The two CCF MPs continued to study in detail some of the estimated 500 divorces before parliament this year, in a protest against the procedure of having the senate and commons grant divorces for Quebec and Newfoundland.

The virtually empty house dealt with divorce bills for all of the hour set aside for private and public bills. Only one bill was given approval.

'Crisis' Units In Africa Going Home

Loss of 'Grandmotherism' Cause of Welfare Boom

Welfare agencies have to provide more services to Canadian communities today than their counterparts did years ago because social conditions are more complex than they used to be, Eric Smit said last night.

Mr. Smit, executive secretary of the family and child welfare division of the Canadian Welfare Council, Ottawa, told the annual general meeting of the Community Welfare Council here that today's citizens need emotional guidance as well as basic material needs.

To some extent, this has been brought about by the disappearance of "grandmotherism," he suggested.

"Family life in Canada in its rural days was very different from what it is today. The family essentially was a larger group of people. There were plenty of relatives around—Aunt Agatha and so on. In time of crisis there was always some other adult who could come in and help out."

Three Stay In Hospital After Crash

Three persons are still in hospital today as a result of an accident at 2 a.m. yesterday, when a car crashed into a power pole at Douglas and Michigan.

Margaret Belfour, 22, of 338 Niagara, and Marjorie Latoski, 21, of 2923 Qu'Appelle Street, each suffered lacerations to their left eyes.

They were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital. Both were in good condition last night. Robert Alexander, 20, driver of the car, and Percy Loster, 24, a passenger, both of HMCS Naden, were also injured. Alexander suffered a lacerated chin and an injured ankle. Loster suffered a cut on his face and an injured shoulder.

Loster was discharged from HMCS Naden Hospital yesterday. Alexander was in "good" condition last night.

Such things as education, religious training, care during illnesses and recreation were all provided in the home and were forms of family service. "The family today cannot provide all the needs the children have. It is impossible for the home to teach all the things necessary for living in our kind of world."

Welfare needs are in a constant state of change, Mr. Smit said, and he advised the local Community Welfare Council to "create and adapt its services" around those changing problems.

Drops Welfare Post

Hamilton Full Time With Silver Threads

Glen Hamilton has given up his part-time job as executive director of the Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria in order to devote more time to his regular post of executive director of the Silver Threads agency.

G. Conway Parrott, council president, announced at last night's annual general meeting that the Community Chest has increased its allotment enough for a new director, as yet unnamed, to work full time on the job. Mr. Hamilton was with the council for the past two years.

Mrs. May Campbell, who has headed the council's Christmas bureau for the past four years, also announced at last night's meeting that she will resign her voluntary job "due to other commitments." The bureau co-ordinates the efforts of various charitable groups in helping the needy at Christmas time.

'Gap Closing' in Indian, White Schools

PORT ALBERNI—"The gap is closing," J. C. Lawrence, Vancouver Island district superintendent of Indian schools, said when he discussed advances in education for Indians in relation to public school standards.

Mr. Lawrence announced that a regional education conference under the Indian affairs branch of the citizenship department will be held here next week.

District school superintendents, agency superintendents, principals of Indian day and residential schools will be among those gathered here May 5, 6 and 7 for the first B.C. conference of its kind since the system of district superintendents was set up last August.

B.C. became the pilot area for a plan of the federal Indian affairs branch when school superintendents were appointed in four of the five B.C. districts last year. The system is designed to maintain and improve standards of education of Indian children at the elementary and high school levels.

Mr. Lawrence, whose office is in the new federal building here, supervises 50 teachers, some in remote spots on the west coast. He said, "The emphasis on improved Indian education; Mr. Lawrence, in service training; Mr. Caldwell, residential school financing; J. Findlay, admission and discharges to residential schools; Mr. Ratcliffe, scholarships and education assistance.

Among subjects to be discussed in sections for principals will be the employment of Indians in residential schools, and the residential school as a hostel for integrated pupils.

All sessions of the three-day conference will be held in Alberni Indian Residential School.

Aggression

Don't Bow To Reds—Meany

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany said yesterday any appeasement of Russia at the forthcoming summit conference would "open the floodgates of Soviet aggression westward."

Meany also called on workers of the world in his annual May Day statement to rally public opinion against "colonial oppression and exploitation" in the West as well as behind the Iron Curtain.

The labor leader said that war—"and this time an even more devastating war"—would result if the West bowed to Russia's demands at the summit parley opening in Paris May 16 as Britain and France made concessions to Hitler at Munich in 1938.

Wild Moans, Rattles Drowned Organ In Historic 'Iron Church' of Victoria

St. John's Celebrates Its 100th Anniversary

By JIM TAYLOR

Another chapter in the strange and fascinating story of St. John's Church will be written Wednesday when congregation and clergy gather to celebrate its 100th anniversary.

It is the story of a building that began as a sheet-iron jig-saw puzzle in London, was carted round Cape Horn on a clipper ship, and assembled in Victoria on property purchased for $1 and later sold for $140,000. And these are only a few of the facts about St. John's, the almost legendary "Iron Church of Victoria."

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Is child genius a case of "trailing clouds of glory" from a previous existence? For example Yehudi Menuhin when two years old showed astonishing musical appreciation sitting on his father's knee at Carnegie Hall concerts. When only seven he played a violin concerto directed by that most exacting conductor Toscanini. Does such a birthright argue for reincarnation?

Hundreds of millions of people in the world believe in reincarnation. Hinduism teaches that according to the law of Karma, of sowing and reaping, the soul is involved in a process covering millions of years.

In this transmigration life may go up or down in the scale of being, into a person or animal, entering upon a series of successive lives determined by the previous existence, happily leading to the final liberation in Nirvana, a condition of passionless peace and absorption into the Brahman or divine essence.

Buddhism similarly claims that in samsara, through the exercise of a moral energy of will and following the four noble truths and the eight-fold path, man can break the chain of causation, subdue the passions, and finally achieve Nirvana. The Buddhists deny that this means the extinction of the individual, but rather complete detachment from all limitations of the flesh.

Pythagoras and Plato believed in some form of reincarnation and the doctrine of metempsychosis was taught by the neo-platonists. The great Christian scholar Origen was much influenced by it and his teachings were censured by Augustine.

Many people believed that Jesus was John the Baptist

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Harkness said Friday that Saskatchewan will receive no more free canned pork from surplus federal stocks for distribution to approved charitable and welfare organizations.

His statement followed reports that some pork made available to Saskatchewan has been distributed to the general public.

Burns Lake

Another Polio Victim

BURNS LAKE (CP)—The infant sister of a six-year-old boy found Thursday to be suffering from paralytic polio has also been stricken with the disease.

Debra Blackwell, two months, was taken to hospital Thursday and found to have developed paralysis in her right leg. She is the youngest polio case reported since the outbreak began in this area in mid-January. She had a protective Salk vaccine shot at six weeks of age.

Her brother, Gary, was diagnosed the 22nd case of paralytic polio Thursday after he had been under observation in hospital for three days. Gary had received all three anti-polio vaccine shots.

The two cases dashed hopes the outbreak had petered out. Last cases were reported April 1.

Group Formed To Conserve Public Lands

A Citizens' Conservation Council has been formed "to prevent alienation of public lands and parks."

Representatives of conservation, outdoor and labor organizations interested in conservation attended the organizational meeting. A steering committee appointed to formulate plans consists of Ken Allister, Freeman King and A. Porter. Mrs. Catherine Skinner is secretary.

Mrs. Skinner said the recent controversy over Thetis Lake Park demonstrated the need for united action by all individuals and societies interested in conservation.

Four Sailings From Sidney From June 9

An additional round trip effective June 9 will make a total of four sailings daily between Sidney and Anacortes this summer, Washington State Ferries announced yesterday.

In past summer seasons three round trips have been made between the two ports.

A sailing now leaves Sidney daily at 1 p.m. standard time. Effective May 20 and continuing through June 9 when the new trip is added, ships will leave Sidney at 10:45 a.m., 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The company refused to disclose the new sailing time until it is released by Washington's Governor Rosellini.

2,000 Welcome Home Three Sub-Killers

Three destroyer escorts of Pacific Command returned yesterday from a 2½ month operational cruise to the Orient.

A crowd estimated at close to 2,000 welcomed the returning ships Saguenay, Ottawa and St. Laurent at "B" jetty. Within five minutes of docking the first of 600 officers and men went ashore loaded with souvenirs and gifts.

A naval spokesman said the operation of the cruise included the "most exacting series" of exercises ever conducted by ships of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

Squadron Commander Capt. J. C. Pratt said yesterday the exercises with

U.S. Navy ships on three separate occasions during the cruise resulted in "hard competition and splendid training for all concerned."

One of the exercises, off Okinawa, lasted the best part of a week and involved an aircraft carrier, destroyers and submarines.

Capt. Pratt visited the RCN ships while they were in Japan. The ships also called at Hawaii, Hong Kong, and on the way home, the Aleutian Islands.

Just before returning to Esquimalt, the homecoming ships were met by three of their "sisters" and took part in further exercises. Fraser, Margaree and Skeena returned to port at 4 p.m. yesterday.

First Dance Draws 1,200

Some 1,200 youngsters between 14 and 18 turned out last night to the first of the season's Friday night rock 'n' roll dances at Memorial Arena. The program is entering its fifth consecutive year.

Arena manager Joe Dukowski said the rule is still in effect that no jeans or pedal pushers will be allowed, and hair must be properly combed and trimmed.

19 Persons Missing; 21 Located

On the face of it, Victoria police department excelled itself last month.

In his monthly report to the city police commission yesterday, Chief Constable John Blackstock reported:

That 19 persons were reported missing and 21 missing persons located.

That 11 cars were reported stolen, and 12 stolen cars recovered.

That lost property to the value of $387 was reported and lost property to the value of $785.50 was recovered.

The explanation was simple—some of the property and persons recovered in March were reported to police in February.

Stepped-Up Season

Islands' Ferries Under Overhaul

Ferries of the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. (1951) Ltd. are in the process of annual overhauls in anticipation for a stepped-up season this year after the new government ferries start operating from Swartz Bay about June 15.

"It is a wonderful development at Swartz Bay and it will give the Gulf Islands a lift," said Gavin Mount, president of the ferry company which operates from Swartz Bay and serves the Gulf Islands.

The Delta Princess is now operating on the Swartz Bay-Fulford service while the Motor Princess is undergoing overhaul. The Cy Peck will go in for refit when the Motor Princess is completed about May 9.

There has been no interruption in service during the refits, but the Delta Princess has been operating a little slower than the regular schedule. But that has been offset because highway construction for the new government ferry wharf has necessitated a road detour and motorists have been, in some cases, arriving later than the scheduled times for the ferries.

It is expected the Gulf Islands ferry schedules will be reshuffled when the new government Swartz Bay-Taswassen service starts.

SPECIAL GUESTS

The special guests will assemble in Vancouver June 8, board the ferry for the pre-inaugural run June 9 and have afternoon tea at the Butchart Gardens.

In the evening they will be guests of the provincial government at a special dinner at the Empress Hotel and they will spend the night as guests of Victoria hotels and motels.

The visitors will return to Vancouver June 10.

Canteen Looted At Naden

Watches and sundry "small articles" valued at more than $300 were stolen from the canteen at HMCS Naden early yesterday.

Entry to the canteen in the main dormitory block was gained through a window, Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancombe said.

"The watches seem to be the most valuable of the stolen goods but we haven't received a full inventory of missing property yet," he said.

Only Their Duty

Big B.C. Bond Sale Leaves Boards Cold

Greater Victoria, Sooke and Saanich school boards—all faced with prospect of putting school building bylaws to a vote in the next few months—yesterday could muster little enthusiasm for a provincial government announcement of sale of $8,000,000 in school debentures.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said jubilantly the announcement "undoubtedly will come as a pleasant surprise to the school boards in the province."

He added: "Not even the most optimistic person felt the government would be able to arrange such a large sale so shortly after the $8,000,000 sale in February of this year."

"It is the government's duty," said Reginald Slinkin, vice-chairman of the Saanich school board.

TWICE DEFEATED
He added, in reference to the Saanich school building bylaw that was twice narrowly defeated in recent months and is slated for a third try some time in the future: "If Mr. Peterson would show us a way to build schools without the taxpayers' support it would be appreciated."

W. C. Gelling, chairman of Greater Victoria school board, said the announcement was "added assurance" the board would run into no financial problems in completion of the new Gordon Head Junior High School in time for school opening in September.

DESERVED CREDIT
He said the department of education deserved credit for its efforts—"they have their problems," Mr. Gelling added.

School superintendent John Gough said "we are not affected by the announcement... however splendid it may be for other parts of the province."

MORE CLASSROOMS
A spokesman said Sooke school board is awaiting government approval of a proposed bylaw which, if it is passed finally by voters, will see additional classrooms built in the district.

Mr. Peterson said the sale of $8,000,000 in debentures would enable boards to provide all essential classroom accommodation this September and also ease unemployment by providing more construction jobs.

Mouth-to-Mouth

Direct Respiration Top Life-Saver

The mouth-to-mouth direct form of artificial respiration is one of the most effective ways of saving lives, doctors were told yesterday at the Canadian Anaesthetists' Society convention in the Empress Hotel.

The 120 specialists from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, B.C., Washington, Oregon and California were shown a film in which mouth-to-mouth method revived a drowning man, a child suffocating under a plastic bag, and a man who received an electrical shock in an industrial accident.

Unlike the more common forms of artificial respiration in which pressure is applied to the victim's body to circulate air into the lungs, the rescuer places his mouth over the victim's mouth, holds the victim's

Goes to Ottawa

Rayner Leads Canada's Navy From Aug. 1

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, 49, will go to Ottawa Aug. 1 to take over the top job in the RCN.

After three years as flag officer Pacific Coast, main naval commander on this coast, he has been appointed to succeed Vice-Admiral H. G. DeWolf as chief of staff at naval headquarters.

42 YEARS' SERVICE

Admiral DeWolf will retire in August after 42 years' service.

Admiral Rayner began his naval career in 1928 as a cadet in the Royal Navy. He was born at Clinton, Ont., Jan. 16, 1911. For wartime service in command of destroyers he was awarded the DSC and Bar.

After hostilities ceased, the French government awarded him the Croix de la Legion d'Honneur with rank of Chevalier and the Croix de Guerre with Palm in recognition of his wartime exploits.

ROYAL ROADS C.O.

In his post-war career, Admiral Rayner was in succession made captain (D) Halifax, commander of the RCN air section at Dartmouth, N.S., commandant of Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

After advanced courses with the RN in Britain, he became secretary of the chiefs-of-staff committee at national defence headquarters in Ottawa. He was promoted to commodore and made co-ordinator of the joint staff.

BACK TO OTTAWA

For a period he was commanding officer of the aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, then returned to Ottawa as naval assistant to the chief of naval staff, moving later to the position of chief of naval personnel with rank of rear admiral.

He became flag officer Pacific Coast Aug. 14, 1957.

Admiral Rayner is married to the former Betty Graham Snook, of Princes Risborough, Buckinghamshire, England. There are six children in the family.

Week-Long Visit

Chief of Naval Staff Arrives Here Sunday

Vice-Admiral H. G. DeWolf, chief of naval staff, will arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 1:30 p.m. Sunday to start a week-long visit to the RCN Pacific Command.

He will be met at the airport by Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer Pacific Coast, who will succeed Admiral DeWolf as chief of staff starting in August.

A full itinerary has been drawn up for Admiral DeWolf on what probably will be his last official visit to Pacific Command before his retirement after 42 years' service.

He will pay courtesy calls to Premier Bennett, Mayor Percy Scourrah and Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt.

On Wednesday, Admiral DeWolf will attend the ceremony for the consecration of the Queen's Color at HMCS Naden. That evening he will be at the Pacific Command's 50th anniversary dinner at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

He will also attend Battle of Atlantic Sunday ceremonies at Naden on Sunday, May 8.

The chief of naval staff will also make a trip to Campbell River to visit the Admiral DeWolf Corps of Royal Canadian Sea Cadets.

He will visit HMC Dockyard here, HMCS Naden, and the navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay.

On Monday, Admiral DeWolf will lunch with Capt. J. C. Pratt aboard HMCS Assiniboine. In the afternoon he will visit Royal Roads. That evening he will attend a reception given by Admiral Rayner and Mrs. Rayner.

Tuesday he will lunch with Commodore H. W. V. Groos, commanding officer of the naval barracks, and afterwards tour Naden, pausing to present National Fire Protec-

Summons Ticket Ordered

Insp. Brooke Douglass of the city traffic office was instructed yesterday to prepare a new form of traffic ticket for use by city police, which will double as a summons.

Under new regulations, when the tickets are handed to offenders the action will constitute personal service of a summons and the offender will be liable to arrest if he does not appear on the set date.

The same ticket will be used as a parking ticket, but leaving it on the windshield of a car does not constitute personal service, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady told the city police commission when it discussed plans for new, all-inclusive tickets.

Ash Disposal Hearing Set

Public hearings into the cemetery operations and the disposal of ashes after cremation will be held by the Public Utilities Commission at the legislative buildings May 10.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I'm tortured with indecision. I don't know whether or not to marry the guy. I'm going to give you the straight story—then wait for the green or the red light.

I'm 23. Glen is 30. We've gone together a year. He was married briefly but never talks about the bust-up. I don't know what happened. He's terrifically good-looking and well-built. He has a fast line of patter and a quick mind. At present he's a salesman—his third job since I've known him.

He's always short of money. I've made his car payments for the past four months. If he lost his car he couldn't work. Glen is terribly jealous of me. If another fellow is even civil he gets mad. When we aren't together he phones four or five times during the evening. He claims he's lonely. I think he's checking.

Now—on the positive side: Ann, I've been sitting here staring at this paper for fully five minutes and I can't think of one thing to say. That did it! You don't need to answer this letter. I'm seeing things clearly for the first time. You've helped more than you know. Thanks a million.—MEG.

Still Sucks His Thumb

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me what to do about a 16-year-old boy who is in the 10th grade, makes excellent grades, participates in basketball, football, track and is popular, yet he sucks his thumb while reading and sleeps with his thumb in his mouth every night.

He has sucked his thumb since he was an infant. We thought he'd outgrow it. We've tried to shame him out of it by mentioning it in front of his friends, but even that doesn't work. Please tell us what this means and how we can break him of this childish habit.—M.P.O.

Dear M.P.O.—Thumb-sucking is a symptom of emotional insecurity and is usually outgrown by the time a child goes to school.

Shaming, scolding, threatening and punishment won't break the habit. In fact, these techniques often work in reverse because they create additional discomfort and produce deeper anxieties.

Thumb-sucking at all ages levels should be ignored. Concentrate instead on giving the boy more attention, warm praise for jobs well done, more real love and less criticism.

Vacation Just for Two

Dear Ann: Should a man who works hard all year and looks forward to a two-week summer vacation, be expected to take his mother-in-law along?

Please don't misunderstand. My mother-in-law is a wonderful old gal and has never interfered. My wife is her only child and although we live in the same block she never horns in or imposes her views on us. It's my wife's idea to take her along.

My point is this: My mother-in-law is a well-fixed widow who has travelled a lot more than we have and she's not hard up for a trip. I want a vacation with just my wife for a change. If I'm wrong, say so. I find myself totally inept at handling this mother-in-law problem. —UNHAPPY HARRY.

Dear Unhappy: You don't have a mother-in-law problem. Harry. You have a wife problem. The little girl is hanging on to mommy's skirts. It's your job to give her enough emotional support so that she won't need to cling to Mom so desperately.

Tell your wife that you want to enjoy a second honeymoon this summer. If you use this approach, instead of embarking on a campaign to "leave the old gal at home," you'll do better.

To learn how to keep your boy from leaving you, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Keeping Your Boy From Leaving You," which contains 25 cents in cash and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send your request to: Ann Landers, c/o The Canadian Press, 100 King Street West, Toronto, Ont. M5X 1C5. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tips for Parents

Too Much Talking Offers Way Out

By HELEN R. HEWSON

"Our nine-year-old daughter is a most aggravating dawdler. I understand that slow motion can be expected at certain age levels, but this has been going on for about two years.

"Surely she is old enough to get through her daily routine without so much reminding and help from me?"

"She has another characteristic that worries me. She will play with only one friend at a time, will not join a group or even be one of three. She is extremely annoyed if her friends show a preference for each other and leave her out."

Perhaps the key to both problems is in mother's words, "so much help from me." Dawdling, slowing down, usually occurs after a rapid burst of growth. The child seems to need time to assimilate his new knowledge, to co-ordinate his heavier, stronger muscles.

Parental help is frequently given during these periods, but it should be incidental and as unobtrusive as possible.

Buttress the pyjama jacket and give the last gentle shove toward the bed, hand him his books and start him on his way.

There must be a willingness on the parent's part to let go and let the child accept responsibility, and there must also be a readiness on the child's part to take what is offered.

If the child is a little reluctant to accept responsibility, too much talking, scolding, reasoning, etc., offers him a way out.

Talk is substituted for physical help and he still feels that it is mother's job to get him here and there on time.

Let the help be given quietly. Children who have not reached the level of independence expected of their age group may feel unsure of themselves.

Have her draw up a weekly timetable, buy her an alarm clock and walk out of the room when you find yourself being too managing.

If you have been giving a great deal of help, start by withdrawing a day or two at a time, perhaps Saturday and Sunday.

Creamed Dishes

By LOUISE MOORE

With most creamed dishes, proper and sufficient seasoning is important. The addition of tabasco lends character and flavor to what otherwise might be a somewhat insipid combination of ingredients.

This dish makes a nice supper dish or a hot entree for a mid-day luncheon. Serve it with a salad of different greens and avocado and grapefruit sections, hot biscuits or wholewheat rolls or muffins and a fresh fruit tart or rhubarb fluff.

CREAMED HAM AND EGGS CASSEROLE

Drain liquid from a 3 or 4-ounce can of mushrooms and add enough milk to the juice to make 3 cups. Stir in ¼ tsp. tabasco and set aside.

Melt ½ cup butter or margarine in saucepan and stir in 6 tbsp. flour, ½ tsp. salt and 1 tsp. dry mustard. Stir to a smooth paste. Gradually add the milk mixture and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.

Add drained mushrooms, 4 hard-cooked eggs quartered, and 2½ cups diced cooked ham; heat until piping hot and turn into a heated casserole.

Garnish with toasted buttered bread crumbs if desired. Serves 4 to 6.

Another delicious casserole for springtime is this:

EGG AND TOMATO DISH

Put one No. 2 can tomatoes through a sieve—or just break the pulp with a fork; melt 3 tbsp. butter in top of double boiler. Add 1 medium size onion finely minced and cook 3 minutes or until tender but not browned.

Stir in 3 tbsp. flour and cook until blended smoothly. Add the tomatoes—juice and pulp and cook 5 minutes stirring until smooth and thickened.

Add ½ cup finely diced celery, 1 tsp. salt, pepper to taste, a pinch nutmeg and ¼ cup grated nippy cheese.

Stir and cook over low heat until cheese is melted. Place in casserole in alternate layers with 6 hard-cooked eggs sliced crosswise having tomato mixture top and bottom. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and grated cheese or just grated cheese.

Bake in moderate oven (375°) about 25 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Serves 6 generously.

Take Heed of Male Taste When Trousseau Shopping

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Purchase a trousseau the way you select perfume—with the man in mind.

Together involves even this facet of a girl's wedding plans, says a new booklet, "Your Trousseau and How to Plan It."

"What you buy now to wear as his wife should take into account his feeling about clothes," it says. "Most men have a definite idea of how they like a woman to look."

"Some clothes have sure-fire man appeal. Oddly enough, most of them are as essential to the well-planned wardrobe as a meat and salad to the well-planned meal."

The booklet listed these "sure-fire" costumes: The good tweed suit in an attractive color and of classic, easy cut; the basic black dress with a pretty neckline and a neat waistline; the good-looking topcoat, especially the belted trench type; the sweater and skirt; the costume with a touch of white—the suit with a fresh white blouse or dress with white collar and cuffs; the graceful chiffon evening dress, and the slinky sheath on the figure that can wear it.

The booklet said these are things "most men do not like": Big, busy prints in either daytime or house dresses; wild color combinations; short skirts that ride up over the knees when you walk; embarrassingly low necklines; freakishly tall or wide hats; evening dresses that look like costume hoops, trains or panels to get stepped on, and tight slacks or shorts on the street.

The trousseau planner includes advice on selection of the wedding dress ("it should be discreet and cover the chest, back and arms," the going-away costume (traditionally, suit with hat, bag and gloves; it should be in a color, not black) and what the bride should know about the well-groomed household ("assume responsibility for your husband's appearance as well as your own... keep his and your clothes pressed, spot-cleaned, buttons sewed on, shoes shined.")

Basics of a trousseau depend on many factors—whether you will continue working after marriage, in which case you'll need to stress street clothes; whether you will live on a college campus, on a military base, in the country or city.

But the publication listed these basics to include one year's supply of underwear, two years of lingerie, and coats chosen to last several years:

Two suits, one casual and one dressy; six daytime dresses, three for winter, three summer; six party dresses for afternoon, cocktail and informal evenings; three for winter, three for summer; one hostess gown or other at-home costume;

Four coats, one winter, one storm coat for heavy duty, one rain coat, one light topcoat; four sweaters; two skirts, or one skirt and one Bermuda shorts or slacks; six blouses or skirts; a shoe wardrobe and three dozen pairs of stockings; six pairs of gloves; three handbags, two for day, one purse for evening; one bathrobe; six bras, three light, three dark; four birdies, two light, two dark; six slips or half-slips, two tailored, two fancy, two dark, and eight sleeping outfits, four for winter and four for summer.

African curios were lent by Mrs. R. J. Donnell and Mrs. E. R. Boswell and murals made by the Mission Circle and Mission Band added to the theme.

Girls of the CGIT represented African Girls in Training. Mission Band children sang to the accompaniment of drums and rhythm instruments.

Mrs. Donnell, who spent seven years in Africa, demonstrated how an African mother ties her baby to her back.

The Mildred Mossop Auxiliary put on a playlet called "African Panorama."

A sing-song of African songs was led by Rev. E. Laura Butler.

Tyros group of boys prepared and served an African style supper.

Simple, Modest Gown

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Margaret's dress for her wedding next Friday will be "monastic" in its simplicity, with no embroidery and no decoration, the Women's Wear Daily said today in a London dispatch.

She is reported to have ordered from dressmaker Norman Hartnell a white silk organdie dress with very modest V-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves.

Princess Margaret has elected from the Royal Family jewels a hinged diamond diadem to wear with a classical tulle veil, the newspaper said.

The story adds that Queen Elizabeth will wear "a dress of bright turquoise lace over fallie."

"The Queen Mother will wear a long, straight dress in gold and white lace with flat surface."

It's Asparagus Time

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The asparagus bed should be the centre of interest now in the well-planned vegetable plot. The young shoots are coming along fast and need cutting every second day, stepping up to daily during especially warm spells in May.

To enjoy asparagus at its best, the tips should be tightly closed when cut. Don't pick out just the nice fat shoots, but cut them all, thick or thin, as they reach the right stage. Later you can sort them out in bundles, grading them as to thick or thin, before cooking them or preparing them for canning or freezing.

If you have much asparagus, it is worthwhile investing in a special asparagus knife for cutting the shoots—a queer-looking thing with a V-shaped cleft at the end. An ordinary straight-bladed knife is liable to do a lot of damage to shoots which have not emerged.

All cutting must cease by the end of June and the plants permitted to grow and make their "fern." It is most important that this ferny foliage be kept green and healthy as long as possible, for it is the action of sunlight on the green foliage that plumps up the roots for next year's crop.

Strawberries are growing fast, and flower trusses are already appearing in some plots. In low-lying areas subject to late frosts, these should be protected with a very light covering of straw or by draping old sheets, curtains etc., on wires a foot above the plants. You can get some grand early berries by enclosing each truss with a jam jar, tipped slightly downward so any moisture condensing within will run out.

It is still much too early to set out tomato plants—unless under the protection of cloches or hotkaps—but you can get in a few likes on the preparation of the site. A sheltered spot is best, and a position against a south-facing wall or fence will yield early ripe fruit, although watering is critical in such a position.

The soil under a wall is always notoriously dry, and dryness at the roots can produce all kinds of queer nutritional disorders in tomatoes—cracked fruits, blossom-end rot and the like—so every possible precaution should be taken against premature drying out.

Dig in plenty of organic matter to act as a sponge and retain moisture, but go easy on manure, which encourages rank growth of foliage at the expense of fruit and makes for malformed fruit. Use homemade compost, rotted leaves or peat moss at the rate of one bucketful per square yard, working in two cupfuls of bone meal and one of sulphate of potash per square yard at the same time.

If you are growing the staking kinds of tomatoes remember you get a better fruit when the stakes are on the slant than straight up and down. You can arrange three stakes in wig-wam fashion, as they do in Ontario, growing one plant up each stake, or put in two lines of stakes leaning toward one another, tent fashion, with their tops tied together.

The principal advantage, in both cases, is that the trusses of fruit are hanging inside the foliage and are always shaded. Unlike apples, tomatoes don't need any sun on the fruit to turn red, and in fact, sun can cause greenback—unripe shoulders on the fruit—and several similar unpleasant effects.

Jack Drops 45 Pounds

Jack Carson, 45 pounds lighter than a year ago, has a complete new wardrobe. "Cost me," said Jack, "more than five grand. Eating is cheaper."

Betty Sullivan made her own survey and came up with the fact that the public is not yet tired of westerns, so he is filming a new one—"The Tall Man," about Pat Garrett, the sheriff who ended the career of Billy the Kid.

Olivia De Havilland, who made nine movies with Errol Flynn, tells me she didn't recognize him when he hailed her the last time in Paris, a year ago. In the early years here, Livvy had been secretly in love with him.

High praise from singer Bobby Darin for singer Frank Sinatra—"I think Sinatra is the greatest lyric interpreter ever born." Coming up for Bobby is a seven-year, one-picture-annually deal at a major studio.

MacDonald Carey's eight-bedroom house is too small for him—with five girls and one or two boys, I always lose count. Mac's "Look Up" series has been renewed for another season—"so," says he, "I have no problems, except finding a bigger house."

When George Sanders endorsed a halo-type shampoo, a dress manufacturer tried to get Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis to endorse his line of dresses. The two boys looked rather weird, I thought, in their gowns during the all-girl sequences in "Some Like It Hot."

And the milliners of Rome sent Ava Gardner a dozen hats hoping she would wear them—singly, of course—to help get the girls back into headgear. All over the world, more and more, ladies are going hatless.

Tiny Dead Stars

Billions of Them

Grain of Star-Dust Outweighs Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scientist yesterday suggested the existence of billions of tiny dead stars in which a mote of matter "no bigger than a dust grain would weigh more than the biggest ship afloat."

Such stars, though not much bigger than the largest mountains, weigh nearly as much as the sun. A cubic inch of the stuff they are made of tips the cosmic scales at 15.4 billion tons.

They are "neutron stars," the cinders of supernovae, in which atoms have been crushed to the dimensions of their nuclei. They were discussed at the opening of the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences by Dr. E. E. Salpeter of Cornell University.

Supernovae are stars which suddenly explode with the violence of trillions of H-bombs. Such a star may emerge from invisibility in the best earth telescopes to brief brilliance 100 million times greater than the sun's.

As Dr. Herbert Friedman of the U.S. navy research laboratory has said, "This is roughly the ratio of a hydrogen bomb to a candle."

Supernovae are believed to occur at the rate of one per galaxy every 300 years. Since there are billions of galaxies there must have been many billions of supernovae.

What happens to a supernova after the explosion? Salpeter said astronomers believe the star's core contracts to fantastic densities. As the pressure builds up, atoms collapse.

Such a star loses most of its volume but retains practically all of its original mass. Salpeter indicated that neutron stars eventually contract to diameters of about 20 miles. This makes them midgets in size. The earth's diameter is 8,000 miles. But neutron stars are so dense that their mass is roughly 300,000 times that of the earth.

To give some feeling for these densities," Salpeter said, "the actual radius of such a star would be about the size of Washington, D.C., and matter at this density would weigh more than the biggest ship afloat."

The largest ships are oil tankers weighing in the neighborhood of 105,000 tons.

Distinguished Honor List

Week's Best Shine in Concert

By BERT BINNY

Best performers of the first week of the 29th annual Greater Victoria musical festival returned last night for an excellent honor concert in Central Junior High School auditorium.

The list of entertainers was long, distinguished and loudly applauded by a sizable crowd, which seemed to enjoy the recently-instituted change of presenting the main concert in mid-festival.

More Events

Concert featured competition for the two main festival prizes, the B.C. Electric Rose Bowl and the City of Victoria Medallion, while the festival will continue through the first three days of next week and has another "final" night next Friday.

The Rose Bowl, major award in singing, was competed for by contralto Eleanor Duff, dramatic soprano Peggy Walton Packard and baritone John Bray.

Competitors

Planists seeking the City Medallion were Clara Mary Chapman, Kenneth Bertram and Sydney Bulman-Fleming. Vocalists included the brilliant young soprano of the 17 to 21 division, Pamela Paver, contralto Eunice Dockree and baritone Ian Wilcox. A polished ensemble, the Musical Art Society Madrigal Singers under the skilled direction of Miss Margery Vaughan, also appeared.

Pooley Prize

Folk songs were provided by Marilyn Tate, award winner in the grade B section; Elinor Graham, a younger and most promising singer; Rino Elverhoy, outstanding tenor who won the scholarship for the best mark in the 17 to 21 age bracket, and Raymond Thorner, an R. H. Pooley award winner in the under-12 class.

And there were many pianists, with duets by the teams of Barbara and Alan Denike and Connie Pepper and David Foster, all four with many years ahead of them in which to develop their obvious talent.

Two Times

Alan Denike was also heard in a solo spot along with young Ann Tracy, Charlotte Hick, Stuart Calder, winner of the Bach award; Gail Wall, Beverly Brown, two-time winner Cheryl Borris and Patricia Evans.

Accordian classes, with 56 entries, were adjudicated by Edward Gibney of Nanaimo yesterday afternoon and evening at St. Andrew's kirk hall.

Back Finals

As for piano awards Thursday, for the Bach finals and the University Women's Club award, Stuart Calder led the 13-and-under class over 19 other contestants. Other finalists were Ann Tracy, 11-and-under; Gail Wall, 15-and-under; Sharon Dougan, performers, and Sydney Bulman-Fleming, 18-and-under.

The Marion McGovern scholarship, donated by the Victoria Chapter Royal Conservatory of Music Alumni, for the highest mark in the Beethoven sonata and performer's concert group classes, was won by Clara Mary Chapman.

Single Point

Eleanor Duff won the female oratorio finals with 184 points, one point ahead of dramatic soprano Peggy Walton Packard.

The Registered Music Teachers' Association prize for grade B singers went to Marilyn Tate, who scored an 88 in the folk song class and an 86 in the soprano solo. Close behind were Kiwi Westinghouse, with 86 in the folk song, and Heather Pope with 85 in the sacred solo and 84 in the folk song.

Sacred Solo

Tenor Elverhoy, was awarded the Musical Art Society scholarship for the best mark in the 17-to-21 age bracket, receiving 90 points for his folk song.

Another outstanding performer was Miss Paver who scored 88 in the sacred solo, female, and 87 in the female solo.

The CBC award for adult choir went to the Arion male choir with 174 points, two ahead of the Meistersingers and only three in front of the Lake Cowichan ladies' choir.

Monopolized

Three youthful vocal classes came up Friday morning before adjudicator Roy Hickman. The Mrs. R. H. Pooley award to the winner of the girl's solo class, nine to 11, was won by Anita May Loudon, already the winner of a similar prize in the girl's sacred solo class, 11 and under.

The class for singers of eight or fewer summers is open to both boys and girls but was monopolized by the latter. Only four marks separating the six competitors.

Family Affair

Jo Smith was the winner with 85, followed by Beth Harris with 84 and Gloria Graham and Hilary Groos with 83.

Hilary was not the only member of the Groos family to scale winning heights. Sisters Madeleine and Laura tied for second behind Anita May Loudon with 86.

In this same nine-to-11 class, third place was taken by Fatsy Perrine, daughter of former Rose Bowl winner Clemency Perrins.

Big Classes

There were also two large piano classes Friday morning, nine-and-under with 25 entrants and the 10-and-under with 22.

Both were praised by adjudicator Boris Roubakine, not only for their playing but also for other such valuable and noteworthy assets as intelligence, understanding and application.

Of young Jacqueline Court, who won the 10-and-under class with 91, Mr. Roubakine said she was "artistic and vivacious" and "tossed off" her set pieces with remarkable abandon but also with unerring accuracy and complete success.

Madcap 'Uncle Earl' Nearly Unhinges de Gaulle

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle rushed through the last hectic hours of his United States visit yesterday smiling wanly at the antics of Gov. Earl K. Long.

De Gaulle and his wife Yvonne left the United States in a blaze of fireworks last night for French Guiana, bringing an end to his 18-day visit.

"Uncle Earl" spit in his ash-tray at a luncheon for de Gaulle and then engaged in a brief wrestling bout with an admiral that nearly got de Gaulle shoved into a dinner plate.

Then the madcap governor, who goes out of office in two weeks, made a short speech in which he announced that "when the Great Scorer comes to write against General de Gaulle's name, he won't write whether he won or lost, but how he played the game."

Then he clapped his floppy straw hat on his head and marched out of the room.

De Gaulle, when his turn came to speak, sarcastically thanked "the honorable governor of Louisiana, who unfortunately has left us before the end of our luncheon, but I appreciate his kind words."

Long fidgeted and chain-smoked in a chair six seats from de Gaulle before the food was served. While eating, he spit unerringly into his ashtray and then, in the middle of the meal, he popped up and scurried over to de Gaulle.

He grabbed the hulking war hero by the shoulders. At the same time, U.S. Navy Admiral Arthur de la Houssaye, seated next to de Gaulle, leaped up and grabbed Long by the shoulder.

Long still had de Gaulle in his grip and in the brief struggle, the startled general nearly got pushed into his meal.

Long ended the impasse by plumping down in de la Houssaye's chair, which had been pulled out behind de Gaulle.

He and de Gaulle then chatted for a moment, de Gaulle trying to eat and talk over his shoulder.

The general appeared apprehensive and came up with a sickly smile. Long then got up and went back to his own chair.

Earlier de Gaulle had his name perpetuated in Algiers — Algiers, La. that is. At city hall Mayor Delesseps

Morrison told him that the city council had changed the name of a suburban street to General de Gaulle Drive. "In this fashion, we are making certain that the name of de Gaulle will forever be permanent in Algiers."

"Of course, this is our Algiers — the 15th ward of New Orleans."

De Gaulle did not seem particularly excited by this.

Only Debris Found, Six Canadians Lost

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A Coast Guard crash boat early today found a shirt, a pair of flight pants and other debris from a crippled Royal Canadian Air Force B-25 bomber which crashed in Milwaukee harbor last night, killing six men.

The debris was found inside a breakwater several miles south of the spot where the plane crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan while attempting an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field.

PRESUMED DEAD

Among the six RCAF personnel missing and presumed dead was the new vice-commander of the 30th North American Air Defence Command Region. A witness to the crash said he "heard no shouts for help."

"I'm afraid they're all dead," a Wisconsin Air National Guard official said. "The temperature of that water out there is 35 degrees, and no one could survive very long."

The plane was bound for Trux Field at Madison, Wis., from Ottawa when it developed engine trouble. It missed one pass at an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field and was on its second approach when it hit the water.

Among those missing and presumed dead was Air Commodore John Stephenson, 47, who was flying to Madison to assume his new post.

LEADING FIGURE

Air Commodore Stephenson, who joined the air force in 1938, was a leading figure in wartime pilot training in Canada.

ada before going overseas in 1944 as group captain with a heavy bomber squadron. He was shot down over enemy territory and was a prisoner of war until early 1945.

ALSO ABOARD

Also aboard was Wing Cmdr. George Kusiar, who was to assist Stephenson.

The plane's four crew members were identified as Flt. Lt. D. E. Byck, pilot; FO R. Howard; Sgt. L. J. Bissan and LAC N. A. Porteous. All were from the Ottawa area.

Maj. Gen. James Jensen, commander of the 30th Region, said Stephenson and Kusiar were coming to Trux under a program for integration of Canadian officers into the air defence setup.

On the Loose

Daughter of movie star Lana Turner, tall, willowly Cheryl Crane, 16, escaped last night with two other girls from El Retiro home for juvenile delinquent girls in California's San Fernando Valley. Minimum-security institution has a high wall but no guards, and escapes are common.

Tanks Confront Turkish Rioters

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Anti-government rioting spread to the capital city of Ankara yesterday and in Istanbul 80 American-built tanks rumbled to the university to confront 3,000 barricaded students.

'Learn From Korea'

SEOUL (UPI) — Members of the South Korean national assembly today warned Turkish Premier Menderes he had better give his people more freedom if he does not want to face what Syngman Rhee did here.

Democratic assemblyman Min Kwan-chik said, "Any government which practices dictatorship under the name of democracy will fall sooner or later."

Chu Yo-han, chairman of the Democratic party policy committee, said Menderes should resign. "He must take responsibility for closing down newspapers, jailing newsmen and suppressing other free 'stages' and 'tools' of the democracy his people should have," opposition for the rioting.

Record Tourist Year Meant $357,000,000

OTTAWA (UPI) — U.S. tourists spent $357,000,000 in Canada last year — Canada's record tourist year, Resources Minister Hamilton said Friday. The 1960 tourist season may set new records, Mr. Hamilton said. Inquiries about Canadian vacations received by government travel bureaus "increased substantially this year."

Last year's spending by Canadians in the U.S. amounted to a new peak of $454,000,000.

Lack of Drug Kills Addict

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coroner Glen McDonald believes a woman addict died Monday at Okalla because she was cut off narcotics.

He said the system of Hazel Rae, 27, "was so run down the shock of being taken off her two or three caps a day was too much."

Nikita May Ask 'Freeze' on Arms

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev may ask next month's summit conference to approve the "freezing of all arguments at their present levels," high-ranking western sources said yesterday.

They said Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko indicated Russian interest in such a proposal — apparently intended to halt the steady progress of West German rearmament — in talks with French officials here last month.

French authorities were said to have made it clear to Gromyko that they were not at all interested in such a plan, which might check France's infant nuclear-weapons program.

When the 10-nation Geneva disarmament talks recessed yesterday, Russia's Valerian A. Zorin told newsmen reduction of armed forces and conventional armaments was a subject on which he thought there had been "some narrowing of differences" between East and West.

U.S. Shipping Boycotted In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI) — An Arab boycott of American shipping began at 3:01 a.m. today in protest over New York longshoremen's refusal to unload the Egyptian freighter Cleopatra.

The International Confederation of Arab Trade Unions said longshoremen in 20 ports from Tripoli, Libya, to Latakia, Syria, would refuse to unload and service United States vessels until the Seafarers' International Union calls off its pickets.

Pearkes Holds Empty Quiver

In the Commons, Mr. Pearkes confirmed that the U.S. House of Representatives defence appropriations committee has recommended scrapping of the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile program and spending more money on the F-106 supersonic interceptor.

Fourteen months ago, the Canadian government scrapped the Arrow supersonic interceptor on the grounds that the Bomarc would fill the anti-aircraft role. The government now has had the rug pulled from under it by the reversal in U.S. air defence policy.

Mr. Pearkes noted that the U.S. Senate and administration still have to approve the House committee's recommendations but there appeared to be only a slim chance that President Eisenhower would override Congress in this matter in view of the Bomarc's poor showing in nine tests — eight failures in nine tries — and the requested cut in the Bomarc program by the U.S. Air Force itself.

Mr. Pearkes said in a reply to Opposition Leader Pearson that "if this recommendation is approved and finalized then it will not be in keeping with the arrangements which were made over a year ago between our two countries for the air defence plan for the defence of this continent."

During the Commons Bomarc debate March 28, Mr. Pearkes described Canada-U.S. agreement to install two Bomarc bases in this country as "sacred."

Junking of the Bomarc would probably mean that the U.S. will not store nuclear warheads in this country.

Missile Spying?

U.S. to Dodge Red Trawlers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy promised Friday to find more inaccessible places to conduct its tests so no more Russian ships could spy on secret U.S. defence experiments.

Statement came after the navy disclosed it had photographed a Soviet trawler within a mile of tests being conducted by the first U.S. Polaris missile submarine.

Soviet vessels have been observed near other U.S. missile tests, the navy added. The service said that while the 225-foot Russian trawler, identified as the Vega, could have picked up information of value, no vital defence secrets were involved in the Polaris tests, which continued despite the presence of the trawler.

The navy emphasized that the trawler was within its rights since the experiments were being conducted in international waters about 60 miles south of Long Island, N.Y. The incident took place Tuesday.

One-Two Missiles Succeed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The U.S. navy last night fired a pair of Polaris ballistic missiles in an unprecedented one-two flight test series four hours apart.

First soared more than 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range. Officials said the shot "met all its test objectives."

Second also was reported fired over a range of about 1,000 miles. The bottle-shaped rocket appeared to be flying normally when it disappeared from view about four minutes after launching.

Logger Petit Point Artist

Convict Stitches Stake in Future

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN—A man in the B.C. Penitentiary serving a life sentence hasn't many chances of making a "stake" for when he gets out.

But Tom Sims, 35, a logger from Duncan, has become an expert at handicrafts to do just that.

Many homes here have large petit point reproductions of paintings of old masters done recently by Sims.

COMMUTED TO LIFE

He was sentenced to be hanged for murder in the rifle slaying of Paul Powling, then 25, on Jan. 1, 1957, in the bedroom of his estranged wife's apartment. Justice J. O. Wilson commuted it to life imprisonment.

So far his sister, Mrs. Alex Stark, 238 First, has sold $1,400 worth of his work. A part of the money went to defray legal costs. The rest went into government bonds.

VERY ADEPT

"Tom has become very adept at petit point," Mrs. Stark said yesterday. "He's certainly the last person you would expect to do something like that."

Friends say the rough-and-tumble logger was more known for masculine sports than handling a needle.

But, her brother is getting along "very nicely, thank you," said Mrs. Stark. Sims "deeply appreciates" the number of petitioners across the country who were instrumental in getting his death penalty commuted.

And he is working very hard in an effort to prove he is worthy of parole, she said.

All his spare time is spent producing petit point, copper etchings, billfolds, photo albums and Indian sweaters. Mrs. Stark says he works at them early in the morning before breakfast and late at night after his day's work.

"I can't say how many hours he takes on one of them, but it must be hundreds of hours," he said. "One petit point 10 by 15 inches has about 140,000 stitches. I can't remember exactly, but it is an awful lot." Earliest he can hope to come up before a board of parole is about 1964.

"He has a little money put by now," said Mrs. Stark. "By then he hopes to have more... he has the time."

That Glow in Sky 'Unusual' Aurora

DUNCAN—There's no doubt about it, that glow in the sky early yesterday morning was an "unusual" display of northern lights.

Dr. Ken Wright, night observer at Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, said yesterday: "I don't think there can be any doubt about what it was."

He first sighted it Wednesday night then again for an hour shortly after midnight yesterday.

V. L. Stanley-Jones, a head of the unidentified flying object group, said they looked like "hundreds of search lights of intergalactic origin."

Observatory officials said the lights are rarely seen so far "south of the Zenith" and in a stationary band of light from southeast to west as they were then.

Beaver Creek Tap Turned On

ALBERNI—Water was pumped into the 60,000-gallon elevated tank in the new Beaver Creek Improvement District system when pumps at the Stamp River intake went into action Thursday.

Over 400 property owners have signed up for the service in the widespread rural area north of Alberni. Residents of the Beaver Creek district proper, Grandview, and other side road areas where there has been increasing difficulty in obtaining private supplies from wells and streams, will be hooked up to the public system.

It is expected that the area north of the intake at McKenzie Road will be using the water within a week, following completion of tests and disinfecting.

Mains have been laid from McKenzie Road south to Malabar Road and along Malabar, down Withers Road. Also laid are the lines on Thomson, Smith, Hills, Travers, Donahue and Fayette Roads, with shift connections and some long connections completed. Once water is in the main, the connecting lines will be flushed and disinfected, and put into service, section by section.

The project, undertaken under a $285,000 government-backed loan, has been carried on as a winter employment program. With the improvement district supplying materials, work on the installation

'Gap Closing' in Indian, White Schools

PORT ALBERNI—The gap is closing. J. C. Lawrence, Vancouver Island district superintendent of Indian schools, said when he discussed advances in education for Indians in relation to public school standards.

Mr. Lawrence announced that a regional education conference under the Indian affairs branch of the citizenship department will be held here next week.

District school superintendents, agency superintendents, principals of Indian day and residential schools will be among those gathered here May 3, 6 and 7 for the first B.C. conference of its kind since the system of district superintendents was set up last August.

B.C. became the pilot area for a plan of the federal Indian affairs branch when school superintendents were appointed in four of the five B.C. districts last year. The system is designed to maintain and improve standards of education of Indian children at the elementary and high school levels.

Mr. Lawrence, whose office is in the new federal building here, supervises 50 teachers, some in remote spots on the west coast. He said, "The emphasis on improved Indian education: Mr. Lawrence, in-service training; Mr. Caldwell, residential school financing; J. Findlay, admission and discharges to residential schools; Mr. Ratcliffe, scholarships and education assistance.

Among subjects to be discussed in sections for principals will be the employment of Indians in residential schools, and the residential school as a hostel for integrated pupils.

All sessions of the three-day conference will be held in Alberni Indian Residential School.

RCMP has refused to give out further information on the incident until the conclusion of the investigation.

2,000 Welcome Home Three Sub-Killers

Three destroyer escorts of Pacific Command returned yesterday from a 2½ month operational cruise to the Orient.

A crowd estimated at close to 2,000 welcomed the returning ships Saguenay, Ottawa and St. Laurent at "B" Jetty. Within five minutes of docking the first of 600 officers and men went ashore loaded with souvenirs and gifts.

A naval spokesman said the operational cruise included the "most exacting series" of exercises ever conducted by ships of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

Squadron Commander Capt. J. C. Pratt said yesterday the exercises with

U.S. Navy ships on three separate occasions during the cruise resulted in "hard competition and splendid training for all concerned."

One of the exercises, off Okinawa, lasted the best part of a week and involved an aircraft carrier, destroyers and submarines.

Capt. Pratt visited the RCN ships while they were in Japan. The ships also called at Hawaii, Hong Kong, and on the way home, the Aleutian Islands.

Just before returning to Esquimalt, the homecoming ships were met by three of their "sisters" and took part in further exercises. Fraser, Margaree and Skeena returned to port at 4 p.m. yesterday.

First Dance Draws 1,200

Some 1,200 youngsters between 14 and 18 turned out last night to the first of the season's Friday night rock 'n' roll dances at Memorial Arena. The program is entering its fifth consecutive year.

Arena manager Joe Dukowski said the rule is still in effect that no jeans or pedal pushers will be allowed, and hair must be properly combed and trimmed.

Stepped-Up Season

Islands Ferries Under Overhaul

Ferries of the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. (1951) Ltd. are in the process of annual overhauls in anticipation for a stepped-up season this year after the new government ferries start operating from Swartz Bay about June 15.

"It is a wonderful development at Swartz Bay and it will give the Gulf Islands a lift," said Gavin Mout, president of the ferry company which operates from Swartz Bay and serves the Gulf Islands.

The Delta Princess is now operating on the Swartz Bay-Fulford service while the Motor Princess is undergoing overhaul. The Cy Peck will go in for refit when the Motor Princess is completed about May 9.

There has been no interruption in service during the refits, but the Delta Princess has been operating a little slower than the regular schedule. But that has been offset because highway construction for the new government ferry wharf has necessitated a road detour and motorists have been, in some cases, arriving later than the scheduled times for the ferries.

It is expected the Gulf Islands ferry schedules will be reshuffled when the new government Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service starts.

B.C. Ferries

Service to Start With Big Splash

19 Persons Missing; 21 Located

On the face of it, Victoria police department excelled itself last month.

In his monthly report to the city police commission yesterday, Chief Constable John Blackstock reported:

That 19 persons were reported missing and 21 missing persons located.

That 11 cars were reported stolen, and 12 stolen cars recovered.

That lost property to the value of $387 was reported and lost property to the value of $785.50 was recovered.

The explanation was simple—some of the property and persons recovered in March were reported to police in February.

The new provincial government ferry service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen on the mainland will begin with a splash June 9, when 100 selected guests will make the first trip—to Victoria.

"Big names," newspapermen, photographers, magazine writers and top-level travel counsellors, will be among the VIPs from all along the Pacific Coast of North America, as far south as Mexico.

SPECIAL GUESTS
The special guests will assemble in Vancouver June 8, board the ferry for the pre-inaugural run June 9 and have afternoon tea at the Butchart Gardens.

In the evening they will be guests of the provincial government at a special dinner at the Empress Hotel and they will spend the night as guests of Victoria hotels and motels.

The visitors will return to Vancouver June 10.

Qualicum Tests Two-Mill Impact

QUALICUM BEACH—Village council has deferred for a week setting 1960 mill rate until ratepayers are sounded out on whether they favor a two-mill hike, with benefits, or holding the line as in the past two years.

A two-mill increase would set the rate at 34.25. If the increase is endorsed, $4,512 would be designated for a fund to ensure softening of village roads.

Last year the village absorbed school and hospital levies without raising the mill rate, but development was drastically curtailed as a result.

Canteen Looted At Naden

Watches and sundry "small articles" valued at more than $300 were stolen from the canteen at HMCS Naden early yesterday.

Entry to the canteen in the main dormitory block was gained through a window, Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancombe said.

"The watches seem to be the most valuable of the stolen goods but we haven't received a full inventory of missing property yet," he said.

Carolyn's in Trouble With Pheasant Egg

Carolyn Brown is having trouble with her pheasant egg. A small incubator ordered from Seattle by the 12-year-old girl of 3045 Beach Drive hasn't arrived here yet and Carolyn's weather has been so warm that her home-made Christmas tree bulbs in Locarno, after a pheasant incubator is giving off too much heat.

The girl is at school most of the day and her mother, Mrs. H. P. R. Brown, spends a great deal of time changing bulbs in an effort to maintain a constant temperature in the box where the egg is kept.

The egg was given to Carolyn by Jack House, 4030 Locarno, after a pheasant incubator was given off too much heat and the egg on the kitchen floor.

Only Their Duty

Big B.C. Bond Sale Leaves Boards Cold

Greater Victoria, Sooke and Saanich school boards—all faced with prospect of putting school building bylaws to a vote in the next few months—yesterday could muster little enthusiasm for a provincial government announcement of sale of $8,000,000 in school debentures.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said jubilantly the announcement "undoubtedly will come as a pleasant surprise to the school boards in the province."

He added: "Not even the most optimistic person felt the government would be able to arrange such a large sale so shortly after the $8,000,000 sale in February of this year."

"It is the government's duty," said Reginald Sinkinson, vice-chairman of the Saanich school board.

TWICE DEFEATED

He added, in reference to the Saanich school building bylaw that was twice narrowly defeated in recent months and is slated for a third try some time in the future: "If Mr. Peterson would show us a way to build schools without the taxpayers' support it would be appreciated."

W. C. Gelling, chairman of Greater Victoria school board, said the announcement was "added assurance" the board would run into no financial problems in completion of the new Gordon Head Junior High School in time for school opening in September.

DESERVED CREDIT

He said the department of education deserved credit for its efforts—"they have their problems," Mr. Gelling added.

School superintendent John Gough said "we are not affected by this announcement... however splendid it may be for other parts of the province."

MORE CLASSROOMS

A spokesman said Sooke school board is awaiting government approval of a proposed bylaw which—if it is passed finally by voters—will see additional classrooms built in the district.

Mr. Peterson said the sale of $8,000,000 in debentures would enable boards to provide all essential classroom accommodation this September and also ease unemployment by providing more construction jobs.

Claiming Damages

Scott Can't Win City Advised

Victoria second-hand dealer W. A. Scott, who has claimed $1,570 damages from city police commission, alleging false arrest, has no case, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said yesterday.

His opinion was expressed in a letter to the police commission.

Proprietor of Broad Street Trading Company, Mr. Scott was acquitted March 10 in Assize Court of a charge of possession of stolen property.

He had been arrested and charged by city detective Norman Bath when a stolen mink stole was found in Mr. Scott's store.

In a letter to last month's meeting of the police commission, Mr. Scott said he was willing to accept $1,570—the amount I had to pay for my defence—"without going to court."

But Mr. O'Grady's opinion was that "on the circumstances as they are known to me, no liability attaches to the police officers concerned, or the commission."

Mayor Percy Scurrell, chairman of the commission, commented that the only recourse open to Mr. Scott was to lay a claim for damages against Det. Bath.

"The next move is up to Mr. Scott, in other words," he said.

Mouth-to-Mouth

Direct Respiration Top Life-Saver

The mouth-to-mouth direct form of artificial respiration is one of the most effective ways of saving lives, doctors were told yesterday at the Canadian Anaesthetists' Society convention in the Empress Hotel.

The 120 specialists from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, B.C., Washington, Oregon and California were shown a film in which mouth-to-mouth method revived a drowning man, a child suffocating under a plastic bag, and a man who received an electrical shock in an industrial accident.

Unlike the more common forms of artificial respiration in which pressure is applied to the victim's body, the direct form, the rescuer places his mouth over the victim's mouth, holds the victim's nose closed and blows air into his chest.

What the doctors saw on the screen was one of the first life-saving techniques ever employed by mankind. It probably never became popular because of the direct contact required.

Reference material which went into publication of a pamphlet on the subject mentioned the Bible chapter 4, verse 34 of II Kings which tells how Elisha "put his mouth" upon the mouth of a small child and brought him back from the dead.

The 27-minute documentary entitled "The Breath of Life" was produced by the University of Saskatchewan and is available to the public said Dr. R. E. Simpson of Vancouver, chairman of the society's B.C. division.

Goes to Ottawa

Rayner Leads Canada's Navy From Aug. 1

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, 49, will go to Ottawa Aug. 1 to take over the top job in the RCN.

After three years as flag officer Pacific Coast, main naval commander on this coast, he has been appointed to succeed Vice-Admiral H. G. DeWolf as chief of staff at naval headquarters.

42 YEARS' SERVICE

Admiral DeWolf will retire in August after 42 years' service.

Admiral Rayner began his naval career in 1928 as a cadet in the Royal Navy. He was born at Clinton, Ont., Jan. 16, 1911. For wartime service in command of destroyers he was awarded the DSC and Bar.

After hostilities ceased, the French government awarded him the Croix de la Legion d'Honneur with rank of Chevalier and the Croix de Guerre with Palm in recognition of his wartime exploits.

ROYAL ROADS C.O.

In his post-war career, Admiral Rayner was in succession made captain (D) Halifax, commander of the RCN air section at Dartmouth, N.S., commandant of Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

After advanced courses with the RN in Britain, he became secretary of the chiefs-of-staff committee at national defence headquarters in Ottawa. He was promoted to commodore and made co-ordinator of the joint staff.

BACK TO OTTAWA

For a period he was commanding officer of the aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, then returned to Ottawa as naval assistant to the chief of naval staff, moving later to the position of chief of naval personnel with rank of rear admiral.

He became flag officer Pacific Coast Aug. 14, 1957.

Admiral Rayner is married to the former Betty Graham, Snook, of Princes Risborough, Buckinghamshire, England. There are six children in the family.

Week-Long Visit

Chief of Naval Staff Arrives Here Sunday

Vice-Admiral H. G. DeWolf, chief of naval staff, will arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 1:30 p.m. Sunday to start a week-long visit to the RCN Pacific Command.

He will be met at the airport by Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer Pacific Coast, who will succeed Admiral DeWolf as chief of staff starting in August.

A full itinerary has been drawn up for Admiral DeWolf on what probably will be his last official visit to Pacific Command before his retirement after 42 years' service.

He will pay courtesy calls to Premier Bennett and Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt.

On Wednesday, Admiral DeWolf will attend the ceremony for the consecration of the Queen's Color at HMCS Naden. That evening he will be at the Pacific Command's 50th anniversary dinner at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

He will also attend Battle of Atlantic Sunday ceremonies at Naden on Sunday, May 8.

The chief of naval staff will also make a trip to Campbell River to visit the Admiral DeWolf Corps of Royal Canadian Sea Cadets.

He will visit HMC Dockyard here, HMCS Naden, and the navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay.

On Monday, Admiral DeWolf will lunch with Capt. J. C. Pratt aboard HMCS Assiniboine. In the afternoon he will visit Royal Roads. That evening he will attend a reception given by Admiral Rayner and Mrs. Rayner.

Tuesday he will lunch with Commodore H. W. V. Gross, commanding officer of the naval barracks, and afterwards tour Naden, pausing to present National Fire Protection Association awards to naval firemen.

Wednesday's program includes the Color ceremonies, the anniversary dinner at Royal Roads, and on Thursday the admiral will be in Campbell River. No official engagements have been arranged for Friday and Saturday.

Summons Ticket Ordered

Insp. Brooke Douglass of the city traffic office was instructed yesterday to prepare a new form of traffic ticket for use by city police, which will double as a summons.

Under new regulations, when the tickets are handed to offenders the action will constitute personal service of a summons and the offender will be liable to arrest if he does not appear on the set date.

The same ticket will be used as a parking ticket, but leaving it on the windshield of a car does not constitute personal service, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady told the city police commission when it discussed plans for new, all-inclusive tickets.

Ash Disposal Hearing Set

Public hearings into the crematory operations and the disposal of ashes after cremation will be held by the Public Utilities Commission at the legislative buildings May 10.

Madcap 'Uncle Earl' Nearly Unhinges de Gaulle

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle rushed through the last hectic hours of his United States visit yesterday smiling wanly at the antics of Gov. Earl K. Long.

De Gaulle and his wife Yvonne left the United States in a blaze of fireworks last night for French Guiana, bringing an end to his 18-day visit.

"Uncle Earl" spat in his ash-tray at a luncheon for de Gaulle and then engaged in a brief wrestling bout with an admiral that nearly got de Gaulle shoved into a dinner plate.

Then the madcap governor, who goes out of office in two weeks, made a short speech in which he announced that "when the Great Scorer comes to write against General de Gaulle's name, he won't write whether he won or lost, but how he played the game."

Then he clapped his floppy straw hat on his head and marched out of the room.

De Gaulle, when his turn came to speak, sarcastically thanked "the honorable governor of Louisiana, who unfortunately has left us before the end of our luncheon, but I appreciate his kind words."

Long fidgeted and chain-smoked in a chair six seats from de Gaulle before the food was served. While eating, he spat unerringly into his ashtray and then, in the middle of the meal, he popped up and scurried over to de Gaulle.

He grabbed the hulking war hero by the shoulders. At the same time, U.S. Navy Admiral Arthur de la Houssaye, seated next to de Gaulle, leaped up and grabbed Long by the shoulder.

Long still had de Gaulle in his grip and in the brief struggle, the startled general nearly got pushed into his meal.

Long ended the impasse by plunging down in de la Houssaye's chair, which had been pulled out behind de Gaulle.

He and de Gaulle then chatted for a moment, de Gaulle trying to eat and talk over his shoulder.

The general appeared apprehensive and came up with a sickly smile. Long then got up and went back to his own chair.

Earlier de Gaulle had his name perpetuated in Algiers — Algiers, La., that is. At city hall Mayor Dejezepe

Morrison told him that the city council had changed the name of a suburban street to General de Gaulle Drive. "In this fashion, we are making certain that the name of de Gaulle will forever be permanent in Algiers."

"Of course, this is our Algiers—the 15th ward of New Orleans."

De Gaulle did not seem particularly excited by this.

Plane Dives Into Lake

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A Coast Guard crash boat early today found a shirt, a pair of flight pants and other debris from a crippled Royal Canadian Air Force B-25 bomber which crashed in Milwaukee harbor last night, killing six men.

The debris was found inside a breakwater several miles south of the spot where the plane crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan while attempting an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field.

PRESUMED DEAD
Among the six RCAF personnel missing and presumed dead was the new vice-commander of the 30th North American Air Defence Command Region. A witness to the crash said he "heard no shouts for help."

"I'm afraid they're all dead," a Wisconsin Air National Guard official said. "The temperature of that water out there is 35 degrees, and no one could survive very long."

The plane was bound for Trux Field at Madison, Wis., from Ottawa when it developed engine trouble. It missed one pass at an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field and was on its second approach when it hit the water.

LEADING FIGURE
Among those missing and presumed dead was Air Commodore John Stephenson, 47, who was flying to Madison to assume his new post.

Air Commodore Stephenson, who joined the air force in 1938, was a leading figure in wartime pilot training in Canada.

On the Loose

Daughter of movie star Lana Turner, tall, willowy Cheryl Crane, 16, escaped last night with two other girls from El Retiro home for juvenile delinquent girls in California's San Fernando Valley. Minimum-security institution has a high wall but no guards, and escapes are common.

Missile Spying?

U.S. to Dodge Red Trawlers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Navy promised Friday to find more inaccessible places to conduct its tests so no more Russian ships could spy on secret U.S. defence experiments.

Statement came after the navy disclosed it had photographed a Soviet trawler within a mile of tests being conducted by the first U.S. Polaris missile submarine.

Soviet vessels have been observed near other U.S. missile tests, the navy added.

The service said that while the 225-foot Russian trawler, identified as the Vega, could have picked up information of value, no vital defence secrets were involved in the Polaris tests, which continued despite the presence of the trawler.

The navy emphasized that the trawler was within its rights since the experiments were being conducted in international waters about 60 miles south of Long Island, N.Y. The incident took place Tuesday.

One-Two Missiles Succeed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The U.S. navy last night fired a pair of Polaris ballistic missiles in an unprecedented one-two flight test series four hours apart.

First soared more than 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range. Officials said the shot "met all its test objectives."

Second also was reported fired over a range of about 1,000 miles. The bottle-shaped rocket appeared to be flying normally when it disappeared from view about four minutes after launching.

'Dead' Man Walks Out of Forest

CAP CHAT, Que. (CP)—Emilien Lajoie, 38-year-old farmer reported to have been burned to death in a fire that destroyed his home at nearby St. Paulin d'Albairre Wednesday, walked out of the woods Friday.

Lajoie and his 36-year-old wife were reported burned to death as fire swept through their wooden home Wednesday morning. Two of their four children later died. The other two are still in hospital. He was taken to hospital where he was treated for burns. Police said he would be held as a material witness in connection with the blaze.

Police also said they would send out a search party for Mrs. Lajoie, in case she is still alive.

Tanks Confront Turkish Rioters

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Anti-government rioting spread to the capital city of Ankara yesterday and in Istanbul 80 American-built tanks rumbled to the university to confront 3,000 harricaded students.

'Learn From Korea'

SEOUL (UPI)—Members of the South Korean national assembly today warned Turkish Premier Menekes he had better give his people more freedom if he does not want to face what Syngman Rhee did here.

Democratic assemblyman Min Kwan-chik said, "Any government which practices dictatorship under the name of democracy will fall sooner or later."

Chu Yo-han, chairman of the Democratic party policy committee, said Menekes should resign. "He must take responsibility for closing down newspapers, jailing newsmen and suppressing other freedoms his people should have."

The tanks took up positions in the square in front of the university grounds. Soldiers opened the university gates and jeeps of soldiers rolled in to quell the defiant students.

Elsewhere in Ankara and Istanbul troops tear-gassed and clubbed rioters into submission as violence continued against the regime of strongman Premier Adnan Menekes.

Casualties rose as Menekes promised "swift punishment" for those demanding his downfall and the return of former president Ismet Inonu. At least three persons, one of them a girl law student, were reported killed by police gunfire and an estimated 30 persons were injured. The two-day death toll stood at 14 in the street brawling here and in Ankara.

Menekes met demands for his resignation with a radio broadcast castigating leadership of the opposition popular Republican party of Inonu. He denounced "artisans," their "stooges" and "tools" of the opposition for the rioting.

Record Tourist Year Meant $357,000,000

OTTAWA (UPI)—U.S. tourists spent $357,000,000 in Canada last year—Canada's record tourist year, Resources Minister Hamilton said Friday. The 1960 tourist season may set new records, Mr. Hamilton said. Inquiries about Canadian vacations received by government travel bureaus "increased substantially this year."

Last year's spending by Canadians in the U.S. amounted to a new peak of $454,000,000.

Lack of Drug Kills Addict

YANCOUVER (CP)—Coroner Glen McDonald believes a woman addict died Monday at Oakalla because she was cut off narcotics.

He said the system of Hazel Rae, 37, "was so run down the shock of being taken off her two or three caps a day was too much."

At Summit

Nikita May Ask 'Freeze' on Arms

PARIS (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev may ask next month's summit conference to approve the "freezing of all armaments at their present levels," high-ranking western sources said yesterday.

They said Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko indicated Russian interest in such a proposal—apparently intended to

Pearkes Holds Empty Quiver

OTTAWA (CP)—A United States congressional committee Friday left Defence Minister Pearkes holding an empty Bomarc quiver.

In the Commons, Mr. Pearkes confirmed that the U.S. House of Representatives defence appropriations committee has recommended scrapping of the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile program and spending more money on the F-106 supersonic interceptor.

Fourteen months ago, the Canadian government scrapped the Arrow supersonic interceptor on the grounds that the Bomarc would fill the anti-aircraft role. The government now has had the rug pulled from under it by the reversal in U.S. air defence policy.

Mr. Pearkes noted that the U.S. Senate and administration still have to approve the House committee's recommendations but there appeared to be only a slim chance that President Eisenhower would override Congress in this matter in view of the Bomarc's poor showing in flight tests—eight failures in nine tries—and the requested cut in the Bomarc program by the U.S. Air Force itself.

Mr. Pearkes said in a reply to Opposition Leader Pearson that "if this recommendation is approved and finalized then it will not be in keeping with the arrangements which were made over a year ago between our two countries for the air defence plan for the defence of this continent."

During the Commons Bomarc debate March 28, Mr. Pearkes described Canada-U.S. agreement to install two Bomarc bases in this country as "sacred."

Junking of the Bomarc would probably mean that the U.S. will not store nuclear warheads in this country.

U.S. Shipping Boycotted In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI)—An Arab boycott of American shipping began at 12:01 a.m. today in protest over New York-longshoremen's refusal to unload the Egyptian freighter Cleopatra.

The International Confederation of Arab Trade Unions said longshoremen in 20 ports from Tripoli, Libya, to Latakia, Syria, would refuse to unload and service United States vessels until the Seafarers' International Union calls off its pickets.

Sergeants Leading

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Two British Army sergeants who had trailed behind Dr. Barbara Moore by as much as 12 miles passed her yesterday and were leading by six miles as they took separate routes on their cross-country walking tour.
